PURCHASING AGENT QUILTS CITY BERTH

H. N. Osgood Asks to be Relieved of Duties by March 1

ILL HEALTH CAUSE

Successor May be Named
By the Commission at Once

Resignation of Harry N. Osgood, city purchasing agent was tendered to City Manager G. A. Bingham late Saturday afternoon.

Osgood, who has been purchasing agent for the city since the adoption of the commission plan of government gave ill health as the reason for his action. The duties of his position were so strenuous, Osgood stated, that he must be relieved of his duties soon, in order to avoid severe illness.

He asked to be relieved March 1, and every effort will be made to meet his wishes, Manager Bingham stated. Osgood has been suffering considerably from an injury received while in military service and this is thought to have been one of the contributing factors to his resignation, he explains.

The resignation was made verbally to Bingham Saturday afternoon and will be placed in writing Monday morning. Osgood is to be relieved on Monday night, Osgood declared.

Osgood upon discharge from service after the war, was appointed as clerk in the office of the director of public service under the last majority regime, and became purchasing agent when the commission form of government went into effect.

His future plans are very uncertain, Osgood stated, although several tentative offers of positions have been made, and it is likely that he will remain in Lima. Other positions have been offered him, which would require locating in either
New York or Chicago, Osgood said.

In commenting upon Osgood's retirement, Manager Bingham expressed great regret that such action was necessary.

GANG IS DUPED BY U. S. OFFICIALS

Ohio Banker Tells Story Of Uncovering Loot Ring

CINCINNATI — (United Press) — Federal authorities disguised as small town bankers seeking to cover themselves in their accused, duped a gigantic syndicate and halted the flood of stolen bonds thru the northwest, it was learned here Saturday night.

E. H. Matthews, president of the Hamilton-Cook Bank, which was looted of $265,000 last September, revealed how his institution spent $28,000 recovering $50,000 worth of the stolen bonds.

More than half of the $200,000 stolen in the Denver bank robbery last December also has been recovered, and arrests among the syndicate ringleaders are imminent, Matthews declared.

Private detectives working with postoffice inspectors, planned to buy up all the securities that could be furnished by the alleged "fence."
They have been successful in recovering $28,000 worth of securities and bonds, identified as having been stolen from the local banks when the negotiations came to an end.

"One agent in our employ posing as a North Dakota banker from a rural community," Matthews said,
"approached operators of the bandit clearing house several weeks ago.

"He explained in confidence that his accounts were short and solicited securities with which to make up the shortage. He started buying bonds in small amounts.

"When the 'North Dakota banker' demanded larger amount of securities than the 'fence' had on hand, they promised to 'get more,'

Matthews said.

"In a few days they offered him $70,000 worth of bonds. These were identified as a part of the Cincinnati bank's missing securities."

Matthews declared the roundup of the huge bandit ring, which operated extensively in this country and Canada will be completed within a few days.

GOV. DONAHAY RECOVERS FROM INFLUENZA ATTACK

COLUMBUS—Governor Donahay is practically recovered from the attack of influenza which has confined him to the executive mansion for the last ten days, Dr. J. E. Monger, his physician, said Saturday night.

The governor wanted to get back to his desk for a few hours Saturday, but Dr. Monger advised him to wait until Monday.

LOVE TRAILS FOLLOWED IN DEATH INVESTIGATION

Beautiful Woman Is Linked With Remington Murder

VICTIM SHOT AND STABBED

Theory Of Business Quarrel Dropped By Officials

(BY ROBERT A. DONALDSON)

LOS ANGELES, — (United Press) —
A mysterious woman, whose slender silhouette ended the life of Earle Remington, aviator and wealthy clubman, was sought Saturday night by police.

The "love trails" of the dead man are being traced by the police, who are convinced that hatred and jealousy were responsible for the murder.

A special effort is being made to trace his whereabouts on the day of the murder. He planned to go to his romantic Rincon rancho, near Chino, on that day, but telephoned his employees there that he would be unable to make it.

His whereabouts before he returned at midnight to be accosted by his assailants, one of them a beautiful woman, is the problem which police are trying to solve.

HAD WOMEN FRIENDS

Remington was known as close mouthed about his personal affairs.
He had women friends—but no one knew just who they were. His wife, Mrs. Virginia Remington, was too polite to ask him, she admitted, although she knew he was associating with other women after their love cooled and died.

A few weeks before his death, she had taken steps looking to a divorce and had consulted an attorney with the intention, it is understood, of making charges of infidelity.

Mrs. Remington is beautiful, a society leader and noted for her bizarre entertainments. Only a few weeks ago she was a sensation of the bachelor's ball—the most brilliant event of the social season.

At another time, she rented a road house and ran it as a society gambling den from which the proceeds were to go to charity.

An autopsy performed Saturday revealed that Remington had received a fatal wound from a charge of fine shot fired from a shotgun at close range and had also been stabbed by a stiletto in the heart as he was staggering from the gunshot.

COUPLE CONCEALED

The identity of the man and woman who concealed themselves behind a pepper tree in the yard until he drove home in his coupe, accused him and then ended his life and left him without touching jewelry or money, is a deep mystery.

Police Saturday night had practically discarded the theory that he might have been killed following a business quarrel. He had business enemies and business quarrels but these are not believed to have been of a sort to incite murder.

Police are still investigating one man who was very bitter over the loss of his money, for which he blamed Remington. They are also investigating a rancher near Chino, with whom Remington had a dispute over a water right, but neither of these theories are being regarded as the correct ones by the police, although no angle is being overlooked in the investigation.

Remington, it is known, was frequently seen in company with a beautiful woman at his ranch. Other women, too, were members of gay week-end parties there. The identity of this circle of friends is being investigated for the police believe some one of the group knows the motive of the murder—and probably wielded the fatal stiletto herself.

3 DIE IN WRECK

Auto Struck By Train Near Mount Clemens, Mich.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich.—(United Press).—Three men are dead, another injured seriously and 50 cut and bruised, the result of two accidents on the Detroit-United Railway at Roseville, near here, according to reports received Saturday night.

The dead men were riding in an automobile when it was struck by an interurban at a railroad crossing at the north end of Roseville. They were so badly mangled, according to reports, that they could not be identified.

The injured persons were passengers in a Detroit-Port Huron car when it hit an open switch and crashed into a power house. Their injuries were not serious, it is said, and they were able to continue their trip after receiving first aid at a drug store.

Joseph Daugherty, motorman, saw the open switch and jumped from the car. He was seriously injured.

KIDNAPED

Rewards have been offered to stimulate the search for the abductors of Sister Cecelia (above), kidnaped from the Notre Dame, Academy at Frederick, Md., who later escaped from her abductors in Baltimore.

CHARGES FALSE, VOGT DECLARES

Suspended Mayor Of Massillon
Answers Accusations

COLUMBUS — (United Press).—
Categorical denial of all charges made against him by Governor Donahay, are contained in the formal answer of Herbert H. Vogt, suspended mayor of Massillon which also calls upon the chief executive to discuss the charges, it was learned here Saturday night.

The mayor demands dismissal of the charges as vindication of his administration and makes a vigorous plea for a clean bill of health for the city of Massillon.

Vogt was temporarily ousted by Governor Donahay, January 18, pending a hearing in the executive offices here February 13. Due to Donahay's recent illness, however, he was forced to postpone the hearing to February 20.

CHARGES PRETERRED

Donahay said the charges were preferred against the Massillon mayor following conferences with several delegations of Massillon citizens who brought evidence to the governor of alleged misfeasance and malfeasance in office and laxity of law enforcement in connection with Vogt's administration.

The executive's formal charges accused Vogt of permitting 25 murders to be committed in Massillon in the previous 18 months with a minimum of prosecutions.

Vogt's answer declares there has been only one murder during that time, that it was duly prosecuted.

He declared the blame for lax law enforcement in Columbia Heights, a Massillon suburb, which the governor seeks to saddle on his shoulders, is unjust in that the suburb is,
by a ruling of the city solicitor, not within the jurisdiction of the Massillon administration.

ARRESTS MADE

Twelve hundred arrests were made for law violations in Massillon during 1922, according to Vogt. He adds that this was accomplished with a police force of a chief and eleven patrolmen "and a second-hand Ford for a patrol wagon."

Specifically, Vogt demands dismissal of the charges for the following reasons:

- 1—That the law under which he is called before Donahay for a hearing does not provide for paying witness fees and therefore unconstitutional.
- 2—That he has been denied access to the information placed before the governor by the Massillon citizens and upon the strength of which the charges were preferred.
- 3—That all the charges were untrue.

Vogt declared he was elected mayor of Massillon for a second term in 1921 and that "the same slanderous charges" were made against him as at the time of his campaign "as are now being made." Vogt adds that these charges were given free circulation and that despite that he was swept into office by an overwhelming plurality.

Lower water and telephone rates are cited by Vogt as a result of his fight for the people of Massillon.

Similar charges were made against Mayor Vogt during Harry L. Davis' administration as governor, without

COAL SHORTAGE AVERTED

COLUMBUS — Arrival of three cars of coal at Ohio penitentiary Saturday averted a serious fuel shortage which threatened to tie up work in the prison shops. Warden Thomas had prepared for an extra issue of blankets for Saturday night, he said, but the coal arrival made it unnecessary.

FIERY LIQUID IS QUAFFED BY FARMER

A. E. Wolfe, Perry-tp, Bids Blind Son Good-Bye In Last Words

TWO LETTERS LEFT

One Addressed to Lima News Tells Reasons for Rash Act

"Good-bye Victor, I am going to end it all."

Thus bidding his blind son, Victor, 24, a last good-bye, Albert E.
Wolfe, 50, Perry-tp farmer walked into an adjoining room in his home eight miles southeast of Lima Saturday afternoon and raised a poison draught to his lips.

As the fiery liquid seared his mouth and throat, he said during to a cough. The blind youth, for whose sake the father is said to have quarreled with his wife, Mrs. Jennie Wolfe, heard him struggling in his death agonies.

Victor had been bed-ridden for a week past, but alarmed by the father's last declaration, he arose and furnished his way to the dying man's side.

Wolfe was still moaning, the boy said, when he reached the couch.
Victor dressed and found his way outside the house and summoned Henry H. Rogers, a neighbor, from across the road.

Rogers found Wolfe's body lying on the couch. One hand, clutching the poison bottle, dangled to the floor. Wolfe's mouth and lips were burned by the vitriolic fluid.

Wolfe was dead, Rogers telephoned to Dr. T. T. Sliemer, who drove out from Lima and on his return notified Dr. Frank Smith, county coroner.

TWO NOTES FOUND

Two notes were found. One of which was unsigned. The other was addressed to The Lima News.

The unsigned letter, barely legible, was substantially as follows:

"Nobody knows the trouble I had here. I hope it ends. I hope I can follow my wife. Good-bye."

W. W. Wolfe, of Oxfordville, a brother, expressed the opinion that the writing was not that of Wolfe.

Marital troubles are believed to have upset Wolfe's mind and drove him to take his life, it is asserted.
He had been married for more than 20 years to Mrs. Jennie Wolfe, formerly Jennie Kline. Victor, the blind son, is the child of a previous marriage.

Trouble between the husband and wife, culminated recently in Mrs.
Wolfe instituting divorce action.
She charged Wolfe with acts of cruelty which included locking her in an unheated room in cold weather.

Her decision to divorce him alarmed Wolfe, and he sought counsel of his pastor, the Rev. C. H. Eckhardt.
He asked Rev. Eckhardt to endeavor to effect a reconciliation.

He seemed to be thinking something of taking his life at the time, if she would not return," Rev. Eckhardt declared.

He talked him out of the idea, but it seems now that he did.

Mrs. Wolfe, who has been living at the DeSota hotel in W. Elm-st., since the separation, proceeded with her suit. Saturday, almost simultaneously with the suicide, she was granted temporary alimony amounting to $10 a week and $40 for attorney fees.

She checked out of the hotel at noon. Officers sought for her Saturday night, armed with a subpoena issued by Coroner Adams.

LETTER TO NEWS

Wolfe's letter to the News, written with a lead pencil on yellow paper, with a request that it be published, refers to his family, and is as follows:

"Well, folks, you have always blamed me for everything and so here it is: you are giving me more than I can stand. I was always trying to protect my boy. My poor old mother knew how she used Victor, but Jennie and you and some of the rest got her turned against me. So now Jennie I hope you got to pay for this. If you had started doing right we could have lived happy all thru life and things would have went well. But here it is, you have showed it that you was all right. Now I am doing this for my poor old mother's sake. It will kill her if this goes thru with you and I do not intend for it to do so.

"Now don't blame my son Victor for this, for he does not know about this. The poor soul is afflicted and has been in bed sick for almost a week. I hope he will be well cared for.
Now I want my mother and Mr.

BAYONETS PROD RUHR WORKERS

German workmen who were prevented from striking by the French military are shown here loading coal at Essen under the shadow of a bayonet.

CRISIS IS AT HAND IN INVASION OF GERMANY

Resistance To French No Longer
Of Passive Character

SABOTAGE SPREADS RAPIDLY

Railroads Are Torn Up And Canals Blocked

(BY CARL D. GROAT)

BERLIN.—(United Press).—The grave phase of the Ruhr venture has arrived. The French find themselves met at every turn by resistance that grows more stubborn and seems to be losing the passive character it assumed at the outset.
French officers have been shot; one died Saturday at Essen.

Sabotage such as the French never expected to encounter when they first marched to Essen is now in force throughout the newly occupied zones. Belgian troops are meeting with resistance in the districts to which they advance, but the Germans are more canny with the Belgians than with the French. The latter have been urged by their ally to use a little more force.

MORE RIGOROUS POLICY

France has apparently decided the time for a more rigorous policy has come. Sixty-three officials from 28 occupied towns, were expelled Saturday and their families given four days in which to follow them.

The Germans are worried because the British have agreed to withdraw from a portion of the Rhineland which they have occupied since the armistice.

Another sign of impending stern measures in the Ruhr was extensive troop movements Saturday. Infantry and artillery went into Gelsenkirchen, and similar detachments moved towards Wanne and Etichel.
When the French marched into Gelsenkirchen they had a police official with them at the head of the column as a hostage.

GERMAN CONCENTRATE

Groups of German nationalists were reported concentrating at Essen, Bochum, Gelsenkirchen and Recklinghausen to urge the population to stiffen their resistance by every means at their disposition.

The Ruhr people are opposing the invaders in a multitude of ways.
Railroads are being torn up, canals blocked by sunken vessels, rolling stock has been crippled, boycotts against serving French troops are constantly coming into effect and strikes to hamper the French are increasing.

The bombing of the headquarters of the French mission at Essen last night is still unexplained. Bavarian gunmen are held responsible in one report.

IMPRISONED AS SLAYER OF FRITZI MANN

Arrest Follows Month's Investigation Of Mystery Killing In California

INDICTED BY JURY

Body of Beautiful Dancer Found In Surf Near Torrey Pines

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (United Press) — Dr. Louis Jacobs, dashing army captain at Camp Kearney, must stand trial on a charge of murdering Fritz Mann, beautiful dancer, whose body, clad in a pink chemise, was found in the surf near Torrey Pines a month ago.

Captain Jacobs was indicted by the grand jury and was arrested Saturday. His arrest came after a month of baffling investigation during which time he had been under suspicion and later under arrest for investigation. He was released by a writ of habeas corpus.

Fritz, beloved by scores of men and a dancer at various gay southern California cafes, was in a delicious condition at the time of her death.

Letters, it is alleged, revealed that Captain Jacobs arranged for her operation, to be performed to prevent motherhood.

Dr. Jacobs admitted writing the letters, but said his interest was only professional and prompted by "damn fool altruism."

OFFICIAL VIEW

Chief of Police Patrick believes that Jacobs was the man with Fritz on the fatal night at the secluded
"Blue Seas Cottage" at La Jolla, a few miles from Torrey Pines. It is believed that she became unconscious there and that her companion, thinking her dead, and fearing sanitary as being found in her company under the circumstances, carried her chemise-clad body to his machine, raced with it to Torrey Pines and there cast it into the sea.

Chief Patrick believes Captain Jacobs went from Torrey Pines to Delmar and thence by an obscure road to Camp Kearney.

Captain Jacobs declared he was at La Jolla during the day, returning in the evening and going to Coronado, across the bay, from San Diego, returning to Camp Kearney about 2 p. m.

PLOT TO CONTROL FILMS CHARGED

Famous Players Corporation
Case Set For April 5

WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—
Hearings to determine whether the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation is guilty of having entered into a conspiracy to monopolize the moving industry will be started before the federal trade commission on April 5, or shortly thereafter, the commission announced
Saturday.

The announcement was simultaneous with the issuance of an amended complaint against the corporation. The original complaint was issued August 31, 1921. Subsequent investigations by the commission revealed additional evidence which resulted in issuance of the amended complaint. The commission believes the new evidence strengthened, its case, it was stated.

The amended complaint charges that the defendants have "conspired and confederated together to unduly hinder competition in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion picture films and to control dominate, monopolize and attempt to monopolize the motion picture industry."

The complaint attacks the policy of the Famous Players Corporation in affiliating with its independent producers who release their productions thru the Famous Players Corporation.

It attacks the practice of the defendants of acquiring motion picture territories throughout the country and con-pelling exhibitors to book exclusively productions released thru them, shutting the theatres and productions of competitors of the Famous Players Corporation.

FORD'S COAL MINE SAFE IS BLOWN BY ROBBERS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Safe crackers blew open the safe in the office of Henry Ford's coal company at Nutterburg, Friday night and made away with more than $300 in cash, Colonel Jackson Arnold of the West Virginia state police announced
Saturday.

Bloodhounds were rushed to the office but found a cold scent. State police believe the cracking was the work of experts.

The money belonged to employees who had been encouraged to deposit six per cent of their wages at the company office.

Myers will continue his testimony
Monday.

Bailin, who the defense claim an one of their star witnesses, was arrested Saturday on a warrant sworn out by the Burns detective agency, charging criminal libel. He was released on $5,000 bail furnished by an official of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

ELECTED

Mrs. James F. Byrnes, wife of Representative Byrnes of South Carolina, has been elected president of the Congressional Club in the Capitol. She succeeds Mrs. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey.

Mrs. May Kibby Clark, 749 W. Spring-st., will entertain members of the Ladies' Missionary society of Market Street Presbyterian church, Wednesday afternoon at her home at 2:30 o'clock. The following program will be given:

Hymn and Devotionals
"In Memoriam" Mrs. M. U. Basinger
Indian Music, Mrs. P. Reade Marshall
"The American Indian" Mrs. R. J. Evans

Cyril Shappell, 8 Collett-st., entertained at a "smoker" Friday evening at his home. His guests were fellow-students in the Chemical Engineering Department at Ohio Northern University.

During the evening, the boys enjoyed a splendid talk by J. Ronald Cuthbert, on "The Future Chemist." Walter S. Jackson also spoke to the boys.

An impromptu musical program was given by some of the boys and refreshments were served by the host's sister, Miss Dunn.

Friday afternoon the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, Delphos, met in the church. There was a large attendance.

Offerings at this meeting amounted to $50.00. Luncheon was served.

Tuesday evening, eighteen little friends of Ronda Marshall, surprised her at her home, 908 E. Kibby-st., in honor of her twelfth birthday anniversary. The guests enjoyed games and contests, and in every way possible brought out the Valentine day idea. Dainty refreshments were served to the guests.

Those who enjoyed the delightful party were: Misses Hildred Greenwalt, Pauline Shafer, Mildred Pence, Juanita Johnston, Clara Belle Hennon, Elizabeth Gillespie, Elizabeth Bowers, Phyllis Mast, Mary Catherine Gordon, Ardath Beach, Thelma, Margaret and Alice O'Hara, Eleanor Marshall, Virginia Berger, Bernice Jewell, Maxine Laughlin and Wilma Jean Marshall.

Mrs. Augusta Reynolds, W. Grand-av, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday, when a group of friends, all fellow-members of Cedar Grove, No. 24, Woodmen Circle, arrived to assist in celebrating her birthday. Contests and games were played and at noon a delightful luncheon was served. Following the luncheon, the guests enjoyed an impromptu program.

Mrs. Reynolds' guests were: Mesdames Julia Sponhauer, Myra Johnston, Mary Couper, Charlotte Haller, Hazel Moeer, Jessie Stillwagon, Emma McClellan, Lizzie Hodde, Mabel Pence, Flossie Reynolds, Anna Shaw, Fern Veress, Mellic and Margaret Gordon.

Miss Ruth Crabb, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crabb, 1120 N. Union-st., and Robert Fritz, 718 S. Laurel-av were united in marriage Saturday noon, at the first Baptist church, the Rev. Warren L. Steeves, officiating.

The couple was attended by Miss Mabel Crabb, attractive sister of the bride and Homer Fritz, brother of the groom. The charming bride was gown in a costume of midnight blue tulle, wearing a hat to match. Her sister was lovely in a pale dress and a lot of blue and silver. Both carried pink roses.

The wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to the members of the immediate families and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz will receive their friends in their home, Smith-apt, 313 1-2 S. Main-st. The groom is employed at the Lima Locomotive Works.

The members of the Excelsior club entertained their husbands at a dinner-bridge Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gordon, Ritchie-av. In the card games that followed the dinner, J. C. Bogart held high score among the men and Mrs. E. A. Stacey among the women.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Gordons were, Mesdames and Messrs. L. C. Bogart, C. E. Umbaugh, Charles Weldy, Ray Brower, E. A. Stacy, Fred Willower, H. D. Rohn, Robert Thompson, Ezra Haines, Howard Heimar and Clay Cotterman.

SHOCKED!

Falmi Beach (Fla.), society gasped when Irene Corlett, above appeared on the beach in these silk pajamas and strolled unconcernedly along.

United Brethren Ladies' Aid Society, Delphos, met at the home of Mrs. Charles Rupert, S. Franklin-st., Friday afternoon.

A regular business meeting was held during the forepart of the afternoon. At this meeting it was decided to meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Valentine, S. Franklin-st., March 1. The morning will be spent in quilting. A business meeting will be held in the afternoon.

Plans are also being made to hold a St. Patrick's social. The exact date for the social has not been decided.

After the business meeting Friday a short social meeting was held. Later in the afternoon the hostess served lunch.

Arrangements are being made for an indoor picnic for the members of the Pythian Sisters, Delphos. This will be held on Thursday March 1. The regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters, will take place Tuesday evening in the K. of P. hall.

Because of the Eldestodd at Lima, the regular meeting of Delphos Sororists will be held Wednesday afternoon, instead of Thursday.

Mrs. W. C. DeWeese, E. Third-st., Delphos, will be hostess at this meeting.

EXHIBITION OF COPLEY PRINTS
HERE SATURDAY

Sponsored by Federation of Women's Clubs, In Crystal Room at Hotel Argonne—"Legend of Holy Grail" In Mural and Selections From "Parsifal"

SATURDAY afternoon, February 24th, at 2:30, there will be an exhibition of Copley prints in the Crystal Room in Hotel Argonne, in charge of the Art committee of the Federation of Women's clubs. This Art committee will donate to the Public Library pictures for the walls in the children's room and from this exhibition, Saturday, the pictures will be chosen.

Also, Saturday afternoon, "The Legend of the Holy Grail," a series of mural paintings in the Boston Public Library, by Sir Edwin Abbey, will be shown. During the showing of these hand painted slides, the story of Tennyson's great poem will be told by Mrs. Lester Pratt. Miss Margaret Gregg will give selections from the opera "Parsifal," which is taken from the "Legend of the Holy Grail."

Mrs. William R. Daniels is chairman of the day and this meeting, with an open meeting to be held in March, will close the regime of Mrs. Beecher Moke, as President of the Federation of Women's Clubs. Other members of the Art committee are Mesdames M. P. Colt, Phil M. Crow, Charles Gamble, Roy Gregg, W. H. Harper, Jr., P. M. Hulseken, L. A. Layton, C. E. Scholl, Lester Pratt, E. P. Stafford, H. H. ## PLANS COMPLETE FOR EISTEDDFOD

Washington's Birthday Event To Have Many Entrants

FULL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Middle Point Minister To Be Conductor Of Day

Final plans have been announced for the Eisteddfod to be held at Memorial Hall, Washington's Birthday, February 22, under auspices of the Trinity M. E. church choir.

Several hundred entries have been made with Mark Evans, corresponding secretary, assuring that there will be keen competition in the various contests.

Ira Wagner is president of the Eisteddfod, J. A. Ernberger vice-president, Gibson Aldine secretary, J. E. Porter treasurer.

Rev. William Surdval, of Middle Point, will be the conductor of the day. Adjudicators are D. A. Clippinger, Chicago and R. W. Roberts, Columbus. Sessions will open at 9 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

In order that there may be no criticism of plans, competition has been opened to all. Preliminary tests will be held on all sides and quarter competitions. Decisions of adjudicators will be final in all cases. So that audiences may have better enjoyment of the numbers, it is mandatory that English words be used in all numbers. Promoters of the music festival are very optimistic and expect a large effort to be made on Washington's Birthday, for a return of the Eisteddfod spirit, which has been apparently dormant in this city for several years.

Announcement has been made that six children's choruses, representing as many schools, will be a feature of the contests.

The complete program, announced Saturday, is as follows:

- MORNING—9:00 O'CLOCK
1. Introduction of the Conductor of the Day.
  2. Singing of "America," led by Miss Margaret Carter.

MERCURY GOES BELOW ZERO

Saturday night at 11 o'clock the mercury dipped to a point one degree below zero, the first time it has "made the rifle" since December 18, 1932, when it dropped to six below, according to weather records.

Fair Sunday and Sunday night, is forecast, but cold conditions are to continue. Monday will be cloudy, with rising temperature, according to the prediction.

Just enough snow fell Saturday to give zero conditions the proper setting. Inquiry was not made after 11 p. m. to ascertain the stage of the mercury in the temperature indicator, but indications at that hour were that it would go even lower.

While waiting for milder conditions Monday, prospect is good for biting cold conditions during the day Sunday.

2 WIVES, HUSBAND WIN DECREES

Cruelty, Jealousy, Liquor Figures In Trio Of Cases

Alleged catman tactics of William A. Ireland, a police employee, resulted in her divorce from Mrs. Effie Ireland, 1211 St. Johns-av, told Judge Fred C. Becker in common pleas court Saturday.

Judge Becker wrote out a decree, after the plaintiff had related that Ireland pulled her out of bed one night, declared, "I paid $2.50 for you, you're mine."

On another occasion, she related, he called her a "southern bulldog." The wife declared she resented such actions and was especially incensed when Ireland, she testified, tied her arm to a pillow and made him pull the implement.

They were married in Prescott, Arkansas and later came to Lima to reside. The decree granted by the court gives the wife the real property, custody of the children and a stated sum for their support.

Extreme jealousy of Charles F. made life unbearable for Mrs. Callie Louise Yeager, S. Main-st, she told Judge Becker.

"Whenever we rode on a street car," she testified, "he sat with my head down, he accused me of lying and called me names."

When drinking, Yeager was abusive, the wife testified, and on one occasion "beat her face to a pulp." He was drinking most of the time, according to testimony.

Mrs. Yeager was given the custody of her children George, 10 and Virginia, 9 and $3 a week for their support. Yeager is said to be in Toledo.

Fred Rogers, manager of the Superior hotel, on the south side, won a decree on grounds of neglect from Mary Myrtle Rogers. He will receive all the household goods in his home, but must defray the expense of the action.

An alleged love affair between the defendant and a man named Moore, figured in the testimony.

WEST MINSTER COUPLE IN CRASH OF TRAIN, AUTO AT ELM-ST. CROSSING

Julius Beech and his wife, both of Westminister, narrowly escaped death Saturday night when a Ford sedan, in which they were riding, was struck by a north bound T. & T. Railroad freight train at the Elm-st. crossing. They were carried a distance of 100 feet on the pilot of the engine. Neither was seriously injured. The car was completely wrecked.

They were taken to the home of their son, Perry Beech, 1234 E. Elm-st.

DAUGHTER OF KENTON JURIST, WELL KNOWN HERE, DIES IN SOUTH

Word has been received here of the death of Mary Ann Hoge Derickson, 23, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Hamilton E. Hoge, of Kenton, at Raleigh, N. C., Friday night. Her father is common pleas judge of Hardin-co.

She died in the Rex hospital at Raleigh, N. C., after an illness of two weeks from uraemic poisoning, brought on by an attack of acute Bright's disease. Her body will arrive in Kenton, Sunday.

Mrs. Derickson had been making her home at Raleigh, N. C., for the past few months, where her husband, Vernon B. Derickson, has large lumber interests. After leaving Kenton, they resided at Dover, Delaware, for a short time. She was well known in Lima.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the home of her parents. Interment in Grove cemetery, Kenton.

GARRETT RUM FINE CASE TAKEN TO APPEALS COURT

Balked in efforts to release George Garrett, railroad convict, for liquor making, by the habeas corpus court, the court announced Saturday that he will be ordered to free him by other means.

Garrett was fined $1,000 by Judge E. J. Jackson, and has carried the case on error to appeals court. He was recently jailed when his bond was refused to be released.

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted before Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton, to release him. The court turned the application down, but lowered the bond to $300.

NATIVE OF ENGLAND DIES AT HOME OF HER SON HERE

Mrs. Rosa Leav Hardy, 61, a native of England, died at 9 o'clock Saturday night at the home of her son, S. Hardy, 248 S. Charles-st, from heart trouble. She was ill five months. A daughter, Wilma Hardy, also survives.

Short funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Hardy home. The body will be taken to Conestoga, Michigan, Monday for interment.

Atlanta Millionaire Charged With Breach Of Promise

ALSO ACCUSED OF SLANDER

Founder Of Coca Cola Company Is The Defendant

ATLANTA, Ga.— (United Press)—Asa G. Candler, Sr., multi-millionaire, founder of the Coca Cola company, late Saturday was made defendant in a suit for $500,000 damages filed by Mrs. Onezima DeBouchelle, wealthy New Orleans beauty, in federal district court here.

The petition is based on charges of breach of promise and aggravated damages which Mrs. DeBouchelle alleges she suffered when Candler summarily broke their engagement in 1922.

Mrs. DeBouchelle gave her legal residence as Nevada, where she obtained a divorce from her husband in order to marry Candler. Candler's residence is given as DeKalb-co, Ga.

According to the suit filed Saturday, Mrs. DeBouchelle met Candler in Atlanta, in 1919, when she was attending a national convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy as a chaperone general and maintains he began courting her attentions from their first meeting.

He continued to shower her with attentions through the convention and after she left Atlanta, wrote her ardent letters, describing his lonely condition as a widower here, the petition declares. Their friendship grew into love, the suit charged, and in 1922 he asked for and obtained her consent to marry him.

But a hitch occurred when Candler announced his marriage plans to members of his family, who strenuously objected. Mrs. DeBouchelle, the suit states, offered to release him from the engagement, but he refused, urging her to set an early date for the marriage.

Shortly afterward Mrs. DeBouchelle charges, members of the Candler family again urged her to leave, her home, to investigate her character, with a view to finding evidence with which to stop the marriage.

When she informed Candler of the investigation, she said she told her that he did not know of it and that the results had merely served to confirm his estimate of her character and make him feel more secure in the promise of happiness that his marriage would bring.

On his urgent request, the suit states, they set the wedding date for September, 1920, in Reno, Nev. Wedding announcements were prepared, an expensive trousseau was ordered for the bride and elaborate preparations were made for the honeymoon trip to the soft drink king and his beautiful bride, the suit charged.

Then out of a clear sky, Mrs. DeBouchelle said, she received a letter from Candler, dated September 15, 1920, stating that he had changed his plans about the marriage and was cancelling the engagement.

The letter declared, according to the suit, that Candler had received reports from sources he was bound to believe that two men had at Mrs. DeBouchelle's solicitation, visited her in her rooming house, on Sunday night in October, 1919. On this ground, he declared he was compelled to terminate the engagement.

On receipt of the letter, the suit alleges, Mrs. DeBouchelle requested Candler to make public the names of the two men, whom she alleged to have visited her, but he refused. The refusal, she charges caused her to suffer the stigma of a shameful slander and heavy financial loss.

In filing the suit, Mrs. DeBouchelle asks for damages resulting from the breach of promise, marriage and to compensate her financial losses which were aggravated, she says, by Candler's "ruthless and wanton conduct" in refusing to furnish the names of the men who are alleged to visit her.

PLANS FOR MEMBER DRIVE ARE ARRANGED BY LEGION

Plans for launching the greatest drive ever undertaken by the American Legion in Lima will be outlined by Bob Shad, chairman of the membership committee, during the coming week.

Shaw plans to open the drive with a banquet for all members, at a local hotel or club. Each member must bring a veteran who is not enrolled, in order to gain admission. The date is March 2.

The drive will close in April on the date of the annual Legion dance.

The committee was given authority at a meeting of William Paul Gallagher Post to proceed with whatever plans seem advisable.

Efforts will be made to bring notable Legion speakers to Lima for the banquet.

ELIDA WOMAN DIES HERE FROM COMPLICATIONS

Mrs. Hattie Alger, 48, wife of John T. Alger, two miles north of Lima, died Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock, at 742 W. Spring-st, where she had been staying while taking treatment here. Death was due to complications.

Mrs. Alger is survived by her husband, two sons, Dan and Boyd, and two brothers and four sisters.

Arrangements for funeral services were not completed Saturday night.

HAMMOND OBSEQUES TO BE HELD HERE MONDAY

Funeral services for William D. Hammond, 63, who died at his home in Akron, will be held Monday at 10 a. m. from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Oscar Overholtz, 1173 Rice-av, Rev. J. W. Saunders will officiate. Interment in the Hantsville cemetery.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. Oscar Overholtz, he is survived by his widow, one daughter, one brother and one sister.

JOE C. HARTLINE SEVERES RELATIONS HERE

Auto Club Head Goes To Mansfield, With Loan Company

Joe C. Hartline, president of the Lima Automobile club and for many years a worker for good roads in Allen-co, has severed his business connections in Lima to assume management of the recently established City Loan and Savings company at Mansfield.

Hartline has already gone to Mansfield and intends locating there permanently, he declares.

He will continue to serve as president of the Lima Automobile club, however, until March 9, when new officers are to be elected. Until recently Hartline was sales manager for the Bryan Auto Sales company, in W. Market-st.

For a number of years Joe, as all his friends call him, has been an outstanding figure along Lima's automobile row, having managed several of the leading sales agencies.

It was largely thru his efforts that the Dixie Highway, across Allen-co, was built of brick during the past summer.

Beside being president of the automobile club, Hartline is vice-president of the Ohio State Automobile association, chairman of the Allen-co Good Roads council, a Kiwanian, an Elk and a Mason.

COURT OF HONOR FOR BOY SCOUTS

Awards For Merit To Large Number In Close Of Drive

Award of certificates and merit badges to a number of Boy Scouts at a special court of honor was the feature of the windup of anniversary week held by Lima Council of Boy Scouts.

Anniversary week is set aside each year to celebrate the founding of the scouting movement.

Awards of second-class certificates were made to Scout Byron Bentley, Eugene Light, Miss Dugan, and Leonard Lombard, first-class certificates were given to Jerome Blattner, Bernard Cohn, Carl Edmiston, Earnest E. Peters, Howard Nowell, Victor Badertscher and William Baum.

Merit badges were presented to William Ernest, Oliver Kirk, Donald Friedley, Frank Cory, Harold Allen, Homer Newell, Victor VonStoll, Maurice Hughes, Lester Cohn, Bernard Blattner, Martin Dow, Harry Hall, Victor Badertscher, Robert Jones, Harold Stalheim, Ernest Peters, Louis S. Pierce, Myron Patterson, Howard Cox, Randolph Barthold, Stephen Churchill, Jerome Blattner, John Morley, P. A. Lawrence, Noll Shroder.

To Noll Shroder also went to the highest award of scouting, given only when a boy has passed all tests required.

Loving cups donated by A. W. Wheatley, were won by Louis Pierce, for the best grade in high school and Ernest Peters as the best scout in the grades.

Joseph M. Butcher, of Columbus, regional executive, declared Scouts in the nation have increased 100,000 during the anniversary drive, he stated. The enrollment in the nation now more than 500,000.

About $5,000 will be required to cover scout activities in Lima during the year, H. E. Simonton, council president, announced. Six new members of the council are to be named during the coming week. A scout executive is expected to be engaged for the work here by March.

DELPHOS CHORAL READY FOR LIMA EISTEDDFOD

Semi-final rehearsal will be held Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church by the Delphos choral society, which will participate Thursday in the Lima Eisteddfod as a feature of Washington's Birthday observance.

Work has been halted somewhat by sickness, but a chorus of 50 voices is assured, according to J. A. Breese, director. Efforts are being made to have the society go thru a rehearsal Tuesday in Lima, but this plan still impends, because of difficulty in securing a suitable place, according to Breese.

CHILD WELFARE WORK GIVEN GOOD RESPONSE

Allen County Child Welfare association's campaign for funds is progressing satisfactorily, according to Dr. Josephine Pierce, president.

Membership drive among women and housewives is being met with hearty response, according to Dr. Pierce.

Returns from the business man's drive are coming in satisfactorily, according to P. A. Angerman, chairman of this division.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl 16 years of age, a freshman in school at South high. I am in love with a boy out of town. Recently I heard that he has been going with another girl. He has told me he loves me and I think he really does. I know you will say I am too young even to think about love, but look at our mothers and fathers, (some of them) I have heard of people getting married at 11. What do you think about this?

How is my writing for a girl of my age?

YES, I am going to say just what you "knew I would"—that you are too young to think seriously about love; and, "Margie Anne," how many people have you heard of who were married at 14? Not very many, have you? My advice to you, is to go around with the boys and girls in your own crowd and have a good time. If this boy cares to correspond with you or come to see you, all right—but don't expect him to drop all his other acquaintances because of you. You aren't doing that, are you?

Dear Miss Smart:
Please answer the following questions:
(a) I am only 13 and weigh 110 pounds. I think I weigh too much. What would be the best way to reduce?
(b) Are bread-frimmed hats to be in style this summer?

CURLY HEAD.
The normal weight for a girl 13 years old is eighty-eight pounds. So, you can see, you are over-weight. Do you exercise very much? You will find that exercise will help you reduce greatly. Take long walks every day and then go thru "setting up" exercises each morning when you arise. Keep away from foods, such as, pies, cakes, bread, and sweet things, such as candy.

Yes, they will doubtfully be worn for dress; probably with flowers and fruit for trimming.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a married woman and need to go to work. But I have a little daughter and I must be at home to care for her. Can you tell me how I might get some work to do at home?

MRS. H. G.

If you can sew well, perhaps you can get some sewing to do by letting it be known in your neighborhood that you are prepared to undertake some work of this kind at a reasonable price. Or, if you like to cook, perhaps some of your neighbors would be very glad to give you an order for rolls, cake or pastry, to be delivered regularly at their homes.

Dear Miss Smart:
Will you please be kind enough to tell me the symbols of the wedding anniversary?

MRS. G. G. H.
These are the wedding anniversary symbols: First, cotton; second, paper; third, leather; fifth, wooden; seventh, woolen; tenth, tin; twelfth, silk and linen; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; forty, ruby; fiftieth, golden; seventy-fifth, diamond.

Philomatheas club will meet Monday evening with Mrs. John Blattenberg, 122 1-2 N. Elizabeth-st. The club will study for the next four or five meetings, Shakespeare's masterpiece, "Hamlet." Monday evening, Mrs. Charles Lathrop will have charge of the program and the topic for reading and discussion will be "The Historical Setting of Act 1 of Hamlet."

Mrs. Paul Harter, S. Main-st. Dolphos, will open her home to the members of the "Smiling-Thru" club, Wednesday afternoon.

Chionian club will meet with Mrs. J. A. Jenkins, 1227 W. Elm-st., Monday afternoon.

MENTAL FOG THICK AT COLUMBUS

G. O. P. Majority Kioks Out Props Then Files Complaint

MAKE ATTACK ON GOVERNOR

Gloom Thickens as Editorial Association Emits Wail

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU

Columbus, Feb. 17.

COLUMBUS.—(Special)—If physical clouds can be made to disappear by the sprinkling of anti-fog powders as has been done at McCook Field down near Dayton, something of a similar nature might be attempted in and about the historic State House of Ohio. For the mental fog is thick about the place and a dose of electrified sand could be made to do good for this old Buckeye Commonwealth. There is almost a call for experiments on the subject and along this line, for the governmental air, particularly in legislative quarters, needs clarification. There is enough of the precipitation of bills and proposals which fall in heavy showers with intermittent force. There is probably enough of a down-pour of ideas, but the obscurity as to real purposes continues. The air has never cleared up in the halls and Prof. Wilder D. Bancroft and L. F. Warren with their amazing fog raisers are suggested merely as a last recourse. The weeks fade away and larger problems of economy and taxation reform are lost in darkness. The Governor of the state has been in the recommendations, a flock of them, but action on any appears to be just as far from realization as are summer roses. One may hope the roses will come, but little that the reforms demanded are to ever welcome the sunlight. Hence the call for the fog-raisers.

The trouble appears to be that the leadership—what a liberty with words is here taken!—cannot see its own responsibility. Whether Governor Vic Donahay did wisely or unwisely in not attempting to take the General Assembly by the hands and set before it the ultimate details of every piece of legislation suggested, no one may now say. Fault is found with him for not doing so, but no formal requests have even been made that he take such action. It was known—made known weeks ago—that he proposed general recommendations for the guidance of one hundred and sixty odd lawmakers, but no requests for help have come from these furnished general plans. The bill has had plenty of time and all the power that anyone might ask, but a course of alcohol has been pursued. Recently, the Governor has been kept away from his office by illness, but on his return Monday after two weeks' absence he will find no more accomplished than when he left the Capitol. Yet in the midst of the fog voices of complaint ring out that he should have provided an experienced body the finest little details to conform to the general plans.

The gloom really thickens as from the outside spokesmen of the majority as voiced by the Ohio Republican Editorial Association come wails to the effect the state administration is apparently leadenness and without a program. And further:

"The minority members of the General Assembly have not offered any co-ordinated program of legislation that would indicate party policy and they have also failed to offer any hopeful or constructive suggestion for economic relief or improvement. Individual offerings of the Democratic members of the House and Senate cover a wide range of personal fads, economic fallacies and socialistic doctrinaires. Representative Hub Atkinson, the minority floor leader, has not introduced a bill or resolution in the House. The few bills that have made their debut with Senator Garver, the Democratic leader in the Senate as the reputed author, are of minor importance and local in character."

Now the general truth of the statement from out of the land of fog may be assumed to avoid an argument. But if this be said for the little minority of 30, not counting Representative Gus Kasch, of Akron, who has chosen to occupy an independent role, what is to be said of the majority of 130-odd members? How many bills have they that represent constructive programs? And, alas, how many that represent "personal fads, economic fallacies and socialistic doctrinaires?"

The writer of the screed who seeks to blame the shortcomings of all on the smaller portion has hit upon the truth of a featureless body. He has placed the gloom to perceive that it is colorless and inept. Whether he has placed the blame properly is another matter. It is easy to blame the vagaries of Kasch's offerings, from his daily bills to the proposed recall amendment which he is proposing, on the minority but for Kasch on that side there are several on the other. And on one question that Gus has some good ideas at that: As to fads and fallacies, veteran legislative attaches who are all of the majority say they never saw a body with so many piddling, piffing, trifling, silly, foolish, and inconsequential bills offered. And they did not blame them all on the minority either. On a referendum vote they would be recorded unanimously for the fog-destroying process. The only relief they see is that the vote will be shut off on February 25 under the resolution limiting introduction of bills. That seems to have represented a casual streak of sunshine into the rooms.

To quote still further from the aforesaid editorial association: "Typical also of Democratic thought and effort for constructive legislation is the interest of all the taxpayers of the state in the bill by Senator Bragg relative to the payment of a bounty for the killing of woodchucks."

All of which is very interesting were it not that two whole days this week were put to the House on a fishing license bill and such flocks of other piffles either introduced or debated or mulled around in committees as never before has been known. Just a glance at the legislative summaries for the day, any day is enough. There are flag saluting bills, justice of the peace bills, teaching kindness to animals bills, Ku Klux Klan bills, anti-convent bills, judge creation bills, salary raising bills, rascals bills, divorce bills, army bills, and bills of so many other varieties that enumeration of them would be largely to run a dash of three-fourths of the measures pending. Even the Speaker has had to poke his nose at the legislative mania for proposing laws.

Now is was quite interesting, too, to note that on the same day the complaint of the editorial association appeared the "Jinney legislature" which is the conference committee of 13—two full baseball nines, one from each branch—was solemnly resolving that it would do nothing to reduce election expenses, nothing to simplify registration and nothing to lighten the burden of the voters and nothing to reduce the number of election officials, and finally nothing in the way of reform of the ballot. All of these things had been recommended in each instance a good Republican member had prepared the legislation and was ready to push it. Reduction of the number of election officials was proposed by Senator Harry M. Carpenter of Jefferson and would at one stroke have cut down the salary outlay by twenty per cent. But he had the fatal fault of being a good thing and agreeable to both people and executive.

When it comes to taking up things that are not recommended or suggested, there is real avidity and zeal. For instance there is Senator Tom Gifford's bill to eliminate independent candidates from the judicial ballot. Against all sorts of protests from independent voters and in face of the assertion that it is not desired by even many of the hard-shelled partisans, the measure has been recommended to the Senate by the Committee on Privileges and Elections. It will take the best efforts of the independently inclined judges to keep the measure from going thru. Judge R. M. Wanamaker and Judge Florence E. Allen have already emitted piercing shrieks because the proposed law, if passed, will tend to make it relatively easy to keep other independents from breaking thru and getting into the charmed circle. The Gifford bill is advertised as taking the judiciary out of politics, but strangely enough the opponents of judicial politics all find that it is plunging it more deeply into politics.

What will be the fate of the movement set in motion this week for more speedy election returns is something of a problem. In view of the decision to ditch other election reforms. The newspapers of the state are almost unanimous in the demand for quicker action, which is not designed primarily to aid them, but to enable them to give the public better service and to insure honesty as well as promptness. There have been fears that the election boards of the tardy counties will offer opposition, but this ought not to be formidable. Secretary of State Thad H. Brown will have a wonderful opportunity to display his powers, first in his facility in exercising his influence in the General Assembly and second in making an honest-to-goodness head of the election machinery. The general plan of the speed-up idea is to make all local precinct election boards function until their task is completed and then to require the county boards to report the unofficial vote by noon of the next day. Experience has demonstrated that counties can get this done if they want to. The small hill counties are described as among the speediest, although getting in the scattered precincts involves more trouble than does the collection of the completed figures in the level counties. Let's hope the speed-up does not get tangled up in a maze of partisan jugs and chicken! The majority ought to trust the Secretary of State not to abuse the power and the minority is assured that no political advantage will accrue to the Secretary from the bill. Successors of boards will have to be named in the regular way.

Congressman Simeon D. Fess, who is shortly to become United States Senator from Ohio, will probably be too busy to come to Ohio to protest against the new anti-Ku Klux Klan bill which has been prepared by Representative Justin Harding of Warren-co. The bill makes illegal wearing in public by three or more persons together any regalia of the order if the features are concealed. The bill will cause the scrapping of the quantities of hosiery and pillow slips. But what a lot of trouble it will make for Summer Fess, the Senator-elect's son who is listed as a K. K. K. thru the medium of a raid on the Springfield headquarters. What the young man was doing in the order is not disclosed, but there are impious persons here who suggest that a certain candidate for Senator last fall wanted to know what the Klan was doing. That may or may not be the true explanation of the mysterious membership, but what are the colored folks who always spoke affectionately of the young man's father to say? There's the rub! It may not have been entirely proper for the notice of Springfield to burst in upon the Klan's private meetings, but it is politically distressing at least.

The "Jinney assembly" must be called into action soon to pass on the bill by Senator Maude C. Watt of Cuyahoga-co, proposing to give the women equal representation on all political committees, state central, county and city. The proposition's most pronounced defect is that it has long been advocated by the Democratic state organization and was one of the things promised the women voters in the event of Jeffersonian control of the General Assembly. The bill will double the number of committee members, particularly for the Republican organization for the Democratic organization has already followed this plan in appointing women along with the men. Now the Watt proposal puts the majority squarely up to a decision either to offend the League of Women Voters and the women of the party or to adopt a minority proposition. It's a tough choice, to be sure.

A few days ago a commemorative observance was held in the hall of the Ohio House of Representatives for Abraham Lincoln. The orator of the occasion was Senator W. E. Wenner of Ashtabula-co, whose high ideals are taught and the party ticket is voted blindly. In a fashion befitting his profession as a teacher, Dr. Wenner sketched an outline of the Great Emancipator and then felt called upon to deliver a few homilies on Lincoln ideas applied to the present time. The dominant note was the necessity of applying to the problems of the hour something of the spirit to be found in his words. For example, the Senator said his assembled fellow lawmakers that the world stood greatly in need of an internationalized Lincoln to bring peace and to tie up the wounds of war, to bring spiritual order to the world from which will flow the material order and by which relations of humanity may be re-established. No advocate of League of Nations, of International Council, of Association of Nations, of world federation could have gone further. The ideas sounded strangely coming from Senator Wenner. And why? Recourse to the cold and unfeeling record, otherwise known as the journal of the Ohio Senate for the date of January 30, supplies the basis for the observation. There was a special order up at that time, to wit: The Burke resolution, asking the President in the name of humanity to call a conference of the powers of the world to bring peace to mankind. Five names were recorded in the affirmative. The record almost sagaciously says: "Those voting in the negative are," there are listed 23 names. Wenner's is among them. "Twas orders. The caucus had decreed! Oh yes, the assembled assemblymen applauded the sentiments on Lincoln's Birthday. But, "Stand by the President, boys."

And if anyone thinks that the way of the dissenter is easy in a tightly organized Senate, let him think again. Or better still, let him ask Senator John Franklin Burke, author of the original ruckus and author again of the minimum wage, which the heartless about legislafive halls call the "minimum" wage to match up "judiciary" and "notary" and other choice propinquities. Burke is treated in a manner that is designed to make him feel that he is about the wickedest thing afoot or afloat. The most casual question is framed something on this stile. "Where the 'ell did ya get that nut stuff?" and "Do a wanta kill the party? Hub?" But with the patience of Job and the constancy of the North Star, the short legged but determined Senator goes on about his course.

MARCUS.

DELPHOS BENEFIT NETS FUND FOR SCHOOL RADIO

A benefit motion picture play, "Julius Caesar," given Friday evening at Jefferson high school, Delphos, netted between $20 and $25 for the school radio fund, according to Superintendent H. R. Hlick, Saturday.

Girls of the school realized $14.03 from sale of candy made by the domestic science department. The money will be used to buy a radio receiving set. Antennae has been installed. The auditorium stage will be equipped with a magnavox.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

A son, Robert Frederick, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Schlegel, 1229 E. Elm-st., announced Saturday.

INDIAN DAY

For many years it has been the custom of INDIAN Motorcycle dealers throughout the country, to prepare for an early Spring business, by an opening and display of their new models on Washington's Birthday, February 22nd and in the industry this has come to be known as INDIAN DAY. On this occasion the dealers invite motorcycle enthusiasts as well as the general public to their stores for inspection of new models and also provide refreshments, music and souvenirs for the guests. In line with the observance of INDIAN DAY all over the country, Lima Cycle Co., local distributors will hold open house on the 22nd and are planning for a big gathering, where they will carry out all formalities incident to the occasion. Brand new, spick and span 1923 models of the INDIAN Blue will be on display, there will be a special musical program, oats, apples and souvenirs. A cordial invitation is extended to all to call and look over the very latest in INDIAN models and to share in the INDIAN DAY festivities.

Many factors are contributing to the belief that 1923 will be a big one in the motorcycle industry. Reports from all over the country, show a return to normal business conditions. The young man, who is the natural market for the two wheeler, is steadily employed. Nearly all the states are enlarging their road program. Traffic and parking problems are becoming so acute in the large centers, that the motorcycle is being considered as the vehicle best adapted to relieve this condition and merchants are adopting motorcycle service cars as regular delivery equipment. Motorcycles are now accepted as essential to modern police department efficiency, hundreds of cities and towns as well as counties and states are now equipped with motorcycles to assist in the enforcement of law and order.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

It is never popular to fly danger signals. Especially is this true, when flying them in the face of general business or intense fervor. Unless such a flag is hoisted, we should rap on wood. Generally speaking, business the country over is going along too well, and plunging forward too rapidly. An echo of this came in the advance of call money to six percent during the week, but this retarding effort held but for a single day.

Every known barometer on business is optimistic. The United States seem bent on discounting any European trouble, either of the Ruhr or as the result of occupation of the Ruhr by France. Stock and cash dividends continue unabated, car loadings are exceeding all past months, oils, metals, sugar, wool, silk, steel and at times cotton, are advancing. Foods and farm prices at the same time remain firm.

More automobiles will be manufactured in February than in any preceding month, and building permits the country over and bank debts continue to expand. Mayhap, no danger signals are necessary, but it seems impossible that we are not due for a break. Friday saw not only a million-share day on Wall-st, but a million and a half, while brokers' loans are said to be at the breaking point. This is the good and the bad, for in every line of endeavor, conditions are super-bullish.

Locally, Lima adds weekly to her population while factories continue to increase output. Real estate for residential purposes is more active, and money more plentiful. Property owners discounting heavier taxes and even adding to holdings. Down-town real estate is being held at stiff prices and little of this is changing hands.

Viewed from every angle, Lima is as bullish as the nation at large. Employment is open to every man or woman who seeks it, wages are in line with index figures, and the consuming power of the buying public is greater than at any period in the city's history, unless it be 1919. Merchants are doing more business for the mid-winter period than they have ever done. We are in full swing. Rap on wood and continue to go with the swing.

LIMA'S BOY SCOUTS

THERE is no activity in this city, intended to interest and benefit young boys, that is deserving of more aid and co-operation than the Boy Scout movement.

Friday witnessed the close of what was designated as Boy Scout week, a period wherein the 18th anniversary of the juvenile organization was made the occasion of a special effort to increase the membership and stimulate interest among boys for the work and older persons in giving it needed help.

The outstanding feature of the week in connection with efforts put forth here was the Court of Honor, held Friday evening. The benefit derived by boys from this movement is such that no one should refuse to aid it in some manner. Boy Scout sentiment is growing in Lima, despite the fact that the twelve troops of the city, with a membership of approximately 300, have not had the advantage of the services of a Scout Executive since September.

Assurance has been given, however, that about the first of March, an active Executive will take up the work here and supply what is now lacking in bringing the organization to the front. It is no exaggeration to say that no single organization of recent formation has done more for American boyhood than the Boy Scout movement.

It teaches youth better and higher ideals, gives them the essence of discipline, develops self-reliance and impresses upon them a sense of responsibility. They are taught to serve. And after all, that is the biggest thing in life. The boys get a better knowledge of nature, are taught to live clean lives, have respect for the aged and infirm and to keep themselves mentally awake.

Courtesy and helpfulness to others are fundamentals of the Boy Scout code. The movement is an aid to the work of the school and the church, the home and the guiding hands of official life.

COSTS MONEY TO FISH

LOTS of devotees of the art of the Gentle Leask Walton, whose greatest delight is to seek a quiet spot along an inland stream and angle idly and contentedly for the finny denizens of the limpid waters, are now facing a new expense to be added to the cost of their pastime.

Passed by both Houses of the Legislature and only awaiting the signature of Governor Donahy to make it a law of the commonwealth, is a measure that requires every fisherman in Ohio over 18 years of age to equip himself—or herself, for the act applies to women too since they have equal rights with men—with an angler's license before he may legally start forth on a pleasurable excursion.

However, the law will not become effective until after the expiration of 90 days from the time it is enrolled and signed by the Governor. That will just about strike the Wallons during the "tag end" of the spring fishing. The fee is to be 50 cents for the license and 10 cents for the official issuing it.

The monies thus derived are to be used—so it is stated—to restock streams of the state, fight the pollution of the water and aid in the employment of fish and game protectors to enforce not only the license law itself, but all others that are designed to prevent wild life from becoming extinct in Ohio.

If the newly made measure will do the things its backers claim for it, no one who enjoys fishing will likely object to it, since the amount of the license fee is infinitesimally small, compared with the enjoyment the real disciple of Walton extracts from an excursion to stream or lake.

Just add the 60 cents to the budget for rod and reel, bait and creel. When the hunters' license law was enacted requiring the payment of a fee of a dollar, prediction was freely made that it would never be a success. But the reverse has been the experience and good progress has been made in protecting wild life in Ohio. The streams of the state need to be cleaned up and restocked with fish. If a license law will do it, or even aid in accomplishing it, everybody ought to be in favor.

ENCOURAGING BOOTLEGGING

THOMAS A. Edison says prohibition is a failure in the cities, but nevertheless it is here to stay, in his opinion. Disclosures being made in connection with so-called enforcement of prohibition laws are shocking the country from one end to the other.

Representative Unshaw, of Georgia, touched off a bomb in Congress when he disclosed that government officials and even members of Congress are violating the Eighteenth Amendment. His charges have not been denied. The impression is doubtless firmly fixed in the minds of law-abiding citizens that senators, congressmen and officials of the government ought to be above reproach, setting a personal example in obeying the laws of the land.

If municipal, state or national officials defy the law, connive at its violation or refuse to call to account others who persist in making a mockery of the constitution, what may be expected? One clause of the constitution of the United States or the State of Ohio is just as sacred as another. It is recalled that misconstruction of the clause once caused a war.

Whether the law is being enforced or whether there is benefit in prohibition, it is the duty of all good citizens, and especially all officials whose oath of office touches the constitution, to refrain from violation of the law themselves and do their best—their fearlessly aggressive best—to see to it that others do the same.

From the standpoint of law there is no difference between moonshine whisky and counterfeit money. Both are outlaws. If there is kid glove indulgence and connivance in official circles, it is a cancer eating away at the very life of the body politic.

LIMA'S AUTO SHOW

FROM March 6 to 10 Lima will be the mecca of auto owners and those who are considering the purchase of a car for the year 1923. Plans for the show, to be held in the Tabernacle, at Pierce and Circular-sts, have progressed to the point that success is assured.

Entries have been made and booth space taken so rapidly that even the most sanguine of the promoters are amazed. This event is an important one to the citizens of Lima and environs for many reasons, more particularly because it will stimulate interest in the modern method of travel and transportation.

Since the first successful automobile was placed on the market the times have undergone wonderful changes. It seems only a short time since the first crudely constructed auto was exhibited. From a small beginning a wide variety of cars has developed. The motor car is no longer a luxury and for only those of great wealth. It is both a convenience and a luxury for everyone, for the range of prices is such that the average citizen is able to join the owners' line.

So far as transportation is concerned, the motor car has demonstrated its necessity. Most every concern of importance in these days has its motor cars for transportation purposes.

The Lima auto show will furnish everyone in this part of Ohio, or even farther removed with an opportunity to see the newest models, new ideas and the latest advantages in cars and equipment.

DAD GETTING HIS RIGHTS

"DEAR old Dad" is coming in for his rights under the law in a particular manner wherein he has been denied a hearing for so these many years. He has been given equality with mother by act of the Ohio Legislature.

The lower house of the legislature unanimously voted approval of a Senate bill giving to widows equal rights with widows to purchase at private sale, things of sentimental value about the "Old Home" when an estate is being probated. Under existing law only the widow has this privilege.

Now if Governor Donahy only signs the bill, there'll be joy in Dad's corner.

A REAL HEART TONIC

Tonic means continuous muscular contraction. Doctors speak of tonic spasms and clonic spasms or convulsions. The muscles overlying such an acute inflammation as appendicitis are in tonic contraction. The muscle spasms in tetanus ("lock-jaw") is tonic; the spasms or convulsions of epilepsy is clonic. The muscular contractions in chorea (St. Vitus dance) are clonic.

A tonic is anything which increases tone in an organ or overcomes relaxation, weakness or debility.

A whip unquestionably arouses a tired, exhausted or lazy horse momentarily but is a whip good medicine for the horse when you have a long, long way to go or a heavy load to pull up hill? Not if it is your horse—all right for some other fellow's horse, if you don't care what condition the horse may be in when you return him to the owner.

A man "doping" himself habitually with heart tonic and nerve tonic is in the same boat with the fellows Irvin Cobb used to know: if Cobb didn't know them he will make their acquaintance soon or late. They were well in the middle of the lake in a row boat they had rented for the afternoon when Isaac cried "Lookit, we gotta leak! The boat's filling with water!" Abe continued to row. "We should worry," he replied cheerfully. "It ain't our boat."

Any thing that happens to be good for what ails you when you are debilitated, is a tonic, altho I don't think what a man is conveniently supposed to take in such circumstances has any effect.

As for medicines, the one which many sufferers from real or imaginary heart weakness so frequently abuse, without a thought about whose boat they are in, is strychnin. Strychnin convulsions—too often demonstrated by children in households where this drug is abused—are tonic like those of lockjaw, but the breathing muscles are chiefly involved and their rigid contraction prevents breathing and induces asphyxia; the heart muscle is little affected. Indeed, there is very little ground for the notion that strychnin is a tonic; it is absurd to imagine that frequent or habitual resort to strychnin will keep a weak or diseased heart working right.

Strychnin is a stimulant to breathing, in serious illness or emergency when the respiration fails, but it cannot be considered a heart tonic. Digitalis and several other drugs of the same class act as a heart tonic in certain disease conditions when administered in suitable doses and at proper intervals for individual requirements. These heart tonics are capable of doing real harm when taken indiscriminately, for they aggravate some disease conditions. So unless one is unconcerned about the fate of the boat it is well to leave digitalis to the judgment of one's own doctor.

Exercise is the real heart tonic after all. In the most successful treatment for various kinds of heart impairment first rest, later gradually increasing doses of exercise, build reserve power and diminish the liability to heart failure. If the exercise is accompanied by enjoyment, so much the better, altho in grave cases only passive movements and simplest of active movements in bed or chair may be necessary at first.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Is there any danger in handling things that are handled by the general public? I've lately cannot take any pleasure in going out as I have to handle objects handled by others: when I come home I feel that I must wash my hands before I touch anything in the house. Mrs. P. J. C. Answer—There is a certain degree of danger, about as much as is involved in meeting and talking with anybody. As for washing your hands immediately upon arriving home and before you handle anything in the house, that is not a bad habit for everybody to cultivate. The cleanliness is next to healthfulness.

Urbis's Hands

Please print formula for perspiring hands—Miss P. M. Answer—Put the palms once a day for a week with a solution of 20 grains of chromic acid in an ounce of water allowing this to dry on. Chromic acid stains the skin yellowish temporarily, if that is objectionable, apply to the hands each night for a week a piece of the following ointment.

Formula: 1 dram Menthol 1 grain Lanolin 1/2 ounce Petroleum enough to make one ounce. This should be placed in a collapsible tube and labelled "For Sweating Hands".

Latest Miracle Please tell me if tumor, cancer and tuberculosis can be cured by the electrotonic method of Abrams—Mrs. W. P. Answer—Indeed I will. Meanwhile, keep a good tight grip on your pocketbook; should you get any little thing like that take it (the trouble, I mean) straight to the family doctor. After that you won't have to worry about the pocketbook or anything. (Copyright, 1923)

POEMS YOU WILL ENJOY

By BERTON BRALEY

FACTS OF THE MATTER

I'm fond of music and fond of books,
I find a pleasure, at times, in art.
I'm fond of mountains and running brooks,
Of country meadow and city mart;
The world is throbbing from margin to margin
With human labor and love and gloe,
But take it honestly, by and large,
The thing that interests me—is Me!

You like to know how your neighbors fare,
Or how folks live in a foreign land.

And how men battle with want and care,
You seek to study and understand
The ways of others, and find in this
A wider knowledge, a broader view,
But in the final analysis,
The thing that interests you—is You!

We may be humble, we may be meek,
Or egotistically inclined,
We may be selfish in what we seek,
Or seeking only to help our kind.
But Mr. Ego is still our boss,
And since undoubtedly this is thus,
With our confession we come across,
The thing that interests us—is Us!

FROM OUR READERS

Favors City Hall Sales

Editor The Lima News: Regarding the proposed change of our city hall, I have read many remarks. Some sound good to me, but the most of them sound like small town stuff.

We want to expand, so I suggest selling the old city hall and erect a modern 10-story building in the square. Figuring 70 feet from the north end of the square and ending 70 feet from the south end, build around at each end, with an arch at Market-st for the cars and other traffic to pass thru.

Make the building of white brick and stone, the city to use the second floor and the other eight floors to be rented as office suites. The first floor to be used as a public waiting room, lunch room and arcade. The basement to afford public comfort stations.

I believe rentals would pay for the building in ten years. The public square cannot be beautified when it is surrounded by old buildings. So, let's broaden our minds a little and do something real this time. Why not offer our present city building to some out of town people—say people in Detroit, New York, Chicago or other big city? Then we would get a real price for it.

By doing this it will cause property owners in the square to take new heart and build something worth while. Such an enterprise will be worth millions to Lima and will be a stepping stone to a bigger city in the near future.

WITH APOLOGIES

BY OH. OH. JACKENRIM

A Page from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter: (HAYANA)—Up with the first tramcar. Breakfasted by wire. Good cigars cost 50c to 55c. But they're cigars. Cigarettes, 2c each, albeit too strong. There's the flying boat from Key West, just alighting in the bay. I wanted Bents to fly over. But he said it wouldn't be right to the American Bank.

Cuba has six provinces, with a total of 41,164 miles. It also wants Warren G. to give it the Isle of Pines. Cuba is the old Indian name. Christopher Columbus, who found it, called it Juana. The form of government is like our own, with the President choosing his cabinet. Senators being elected for eight, instead of six years. The range of temperature is only eleven degrees. The hottest month August, touching 82; and the coldest, January, around 70 degrees. The rainy season is May to October, but it never rains until after 10 a. m. Which gives time to dry the wash.

manos (The Two Brothers) Cafe. Another demi-Bohemian affair. The lower room like an opium joint, but they wave you up a narrow, winding stair. Thence under an awninged portico, with tiled floor. Around you at small tables are: Americans, Japanese, South Americans, and a sprinkling of Spanish-Europeans. Seven-thirty is too late for Americans to dine. They want it at six. The music is but coming in, and a table party of Uncle Samers are paying their chit.

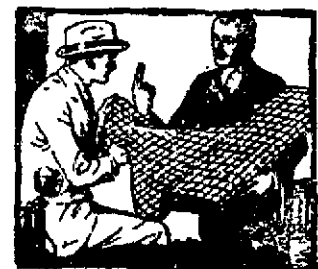

We took the Special. Spanish restaurants always have specials. A crab-meat cocktail that would have made Jack Hastings pick a bride. The crab with his feet still on. Un-meatured, at that. Beans, peas, cold boiled egg, lettuce, asparagus and carrots. All blended into a delectable tummy-teasing appetizer. Now, comes the pescado papillot (fish cooked in paper). Thence, a whole spring chicken which Ferdinand splits in twain, fifty-fifty, to each. The side platters, one of Lyonnaise pommes de terre, the second a combination salad. The fruits of the isle, an alligator pear, the theme. Red-ink came with the joint. The Presidente aperitive having preceded the crab.

At a near-by table, sat my Rotary table companion of a fortnight ago, Senor Luis Machaday, Ortega, the last portion being his mother's name. All high-born Cubans and Spanish use the mother's family name on their cards. With him, an American girl as fair as a funeral lily. As we both arose in recognition, the Jamaica Negroes, on their nine-stringed guitars. Started, "Oh, Mr. Gallagher," which ends, "And Living's so high, It's Cheaper to Die."

Into a taxi, and down over the Malicon, abreast the sea-wall. Thence, late to the Teatro Nacional. Where senoritas and bull-fighters from Spain were presenting a Zarzuela.—Irish, for Ziegfeld's Folies. There are three different shows nightly at all Spanish theatres. Of one hour's duration. So, if you stay for more than one, you buy another ticket. We couldn't understand a word, but the gestures were really violent. The ladies wear yards of clothes. Unlike Paris, where they wear none.

So, to bed. My pescado papillot becoming active. I hope that fish hadn't the flumonia.

POPULAR STARS TO TWINKLE IN LIMA THEATRES THIS WEEK

WORLD OF CINEMA TO SHOW BEST

Manager Clark Assembles Fine Bill for Entertainment of House Patrons

(By GERTRUDE GILLMAN)

A HOST of popular stars will scintillate in the cinema world during the forthcoming week, appearing in excellent screen productions. There's Gloria Swanson, Antonio Moreno, Bessie Love, Gareth Hughes, Lon Chaney, Harrison Ford, Ralph Graves, Miriam Cooper, Viola Dana, Will Rogers and many others equally prominent. Probably one of the strongest programs in weeks ever offered by the theatre managers is in store for your enjoyment for the next seven days.

Gloria Swanson is booked for an appearance in Lima after a long absence. She will be seen at the Quilina for three days in "My American Wife" ably supported by Antonio Moreno. It is a Paramount.

The Sigma offers as its program de resistance, "Forget-Me-Not" co-starring Bessie Love and Gareth Hughes. It is a photodrama of the hungry of heart and has received the endorsement of various Rotary clubs that are fostering the crippled children cause. You will all remember Gareth Hughes as the wonderful star in "Sentimental Tommy".

Lon Chaney, Harrison Ford and Marguerite de la Motte are the stars in "Shadows" an adaptation of Daniel Steele's prize story, "Ching, Ching, Chinaman." Chaney gives another striking characterization in this production that is considered one of his best roles. It is the Lyric's offering for four day beginning today.

The combination of Ralph Graves and Miriam Cooper should prove most interesting and their combined histrionic work in "Kindred of the Dust" promises to the discriminating movie-goer a picture of real worth. It is a Peter R. Kyne story, appearing at the Majestic for two days. As an added attraction Marjah will appear Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at this theatre.

Washington's Birthday, beginning the week-end program, is to be a gala event in the Lima movie centers, special efforts on the part of managers having resulted in presentations of unusual interest.

Will Rogers in "The Headless Horseman" an adaptation of Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" is the Quilina's week-end offering. His characterization of Ichabod Crane is said to be his best offering for the screen.

Viola Dana stars in "The $5 Baby," a Saturday Evening Post story, appearing three days at the Sigma theatre beginning on Thursday. The Lyric offers Blanche Hammerstein in "Reckless Youth" and for the Majestic's attraction on Thursday Manager Michael announces a complete serial, "Breakfast Through," Friday and Saturday, "Garments of Truth" with an all star cast.

For the Lyric's week-end program, Gloria Swanson will appear in "Her Husband's Trademark," Wednesday and Thursday. Friday and Saturday, Herbert Rawlinson in "The Scarlet Car."

Cine-matographically speaking, Lima will revel in a week of good, enjoyable entertainment.

ORPHEUM OFFERS VAUDEVILLE UNIT

DIFFERENT from the regular run of Orpheum attractions, Manager Shaw announces a big six act vaudeville unit show, featuring Dan Sherman's Rube Circus, for one week starting at today's matinee, with an entire change of program on Thursday.

We herewith give you a line-up of today's show.

To start things going, the musical Herberths have been selected as the curtain raiser and they will offer a merry mélange of music and dance. The second act is offered by the Great Stanton, conceded to be the "Escape King" and Harry Scene from "Forget-Me-Not" appearing at the Sigma.

LON CHANEY AND JOHN SAINPOLIS IN "SHADOWS," Appearing at the Lyric.

Houdini says, "There is none better than the great Stanton." He will make a one minute escape from a sealed coffin in full view of the audience. The Ogden Sisters' vaudeville polka dispenser, song and dance creations give the third offering on this marvellous bill followed by Lopor and Ben, billed as the Komical Kinkers. Tessie Sherman known as Eva Tanguay's rival will hold fourth place and to top the climax, Dan Sherman and his Rube Circus, will round up one of the best all around vaudeville programs ever offered theater goers at the popular Market-st play house. Dan Sherman has been careful in selecting his unit show and as Mr. Sherman is a star himself, he has surrounded himself with a show that will be entertaining from the rise of the curtain to the fall.

Now you have the entire six act vaudeville program for your personal and there will be three shows, starting promptly at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:15. No advance in prices.

The Lyric Pictures
When a producer takes a great fiction story, organizes a cast of players made up almost exclusively of stars or featured players, and places the whole in the hands of a capable director, the result is certain to be a picture of unusual qualities. And so it is with "Shadows," the greatest story ever told on the screen, appearing at the Lyric's attraction for the first half of the week.

That is what D. P. Schulberg did when he made "Shadows," based on Daniel Steele's famous prize story, "Ching, Ching, Chinaman," chosen as one of the best stories of 1917 by an American writer in a list compiled by Edward J. O'Brien.

It is a story of normal people who live and love and scheme the same as you do. All of the dramatic, comedy and heart interest were re-created, developed and even strengthened as they were translated to the screen by Director Tom Forman. He has developed interest and skilfully worked up to the surprising climax that will keep the spectator on the edge of his seat until the final shot.

Lon Chaney as Yen Sin is said to give another striking characterization that is considered one of his best roles. Besides Chaney, there are many notable stars in the production including Marguerite de la Motte, Harrison Ford, John Sainpolis, Walter Long, Buddy Messenger and Priscilla Bonnor.

"Shadows" is a Forman special production. Forman's success as a director is a result of his complete possession of the three essentials—a creative mind, a broad knowledge of the work and a personality which makes those under him react to his wishes. Upon these can be credited the universal success of the cinematographic version of this famous story.

The Sigma Pictures

FILMED with pathos and heart throbs, "Forget-Me-Not," a photodrama of heart-hunger, is a picture that will live long in the memory of theatre goers. It has received the endorsement of various Rotary clubs that are fostering the Crippled Children movement. It is a Metro production, appearing today and for three days at the Sigma theatre.

It's a story of a girl that nobody wanted—a story of what a home really means when you haven't one. When a baby, she is abandoned by her mother and becomes an inmate of an orphanage. In a fire she breaks her leg, and now the crippled limb bears a brace. Her playmate is Jimmy, another orphan and they are both trusting that as a result of the orphan drive, they will find good parents and good homes. But at the end of the drive, little Ann is the only child left in the orphanage, even pal Jimmy is gone. Twice Ann was about to be adopted but always her lameness stood in the way. The story that follows is one of sincere pathos and heart interest. It is truly a picture of every day existence, and the reasonableness of its story commends itself.

Bessie Love, thru her portrayal of the crippled orphan, has done in "Forget-Me-Not" the most memorable work of her career. Only superlatives could do justice to the line artistry of her characterization which will remain among the most notable of screen portrayals for many years. Gareth Hughes, the brilliant young actor who made the title role of Barry's "Sentimental Tommy" live before millions who thrilled at the photoplay, is once more cast in a part similar in its tenderness and sympathy. Irene Hunt, Otto Lederer and Myrtle Lind are each deserving of a special note of commendation.

The Majestic Pictures
PETER B. KYNE, the famous novelist, is the author of "Kindred of the Dust," a First National attraction, co-starring Miriam Cooper and Ralph Graves, which appears at the Majestic theatre today and tomorrow.

Miss Cooper has a particularly sympathetic role as "Nan of Sawdust Hill," the name bestowed upon a piece of land created along the Columbia River in the state of Washington by the refuse of a huge saw mill, and which has been settled by squatters. Among these is Nan's grandfather, a retired petty officer of the American navy, who has fallen upon evil days. Despite their poverty, Nan makes the best of things, hoping that some day she may be able to cultivate the pure singing voice with which nature has endowed her.

Romance develops between the destitute maiden and Donald McKaye, the son of the owners of the saw mill, but parental interference wrecked their hopes for a time. Many years pass, however, before they were finally reunited.

Producer Walsh has made a highly effective picture out of "Kindred of the Dust," and it is meeting with universal success.

As an added attraction for Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, Manager Michael has announced the appearance of Marjah, conceded by world critics to be the master psychic of all times. There will be matinees for women only on Wednesday and Friday.

The comic opera, "The Merry Widow," is soon to reach the screen via Goldwyn and Erich von Stroheim has been chosen to direct it. Rumor has it that he may play the part of the prince.

Goldwyn has placed King Vidor under a long-term contract and he will first direct a stage play as yet unannounced.

COUZENS SENATE NUT CRACKER

Rather, the Michigan Man Seeks That Title

FIGHT FOR APPROPRIATIONS

Adams, Gone to Egypt, Seeks Tomb for G. O. P.

(By HARRY HUNT)
THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 17.—The ambition of James Couzens of Michigan is to become the senatorial nut-cracker.

Not a cracker of jokes—please do not misunderstand! But, instead, a cracker of thick-shelled craniums, in order to admit more light of reason and fact.

"It's odd, but it's a fact," Couzens remarked the other day as we were riding from the Senate office building to the Capitol in the government motor car.

ground trolley, installed solely to save senators the labor of walking, "that the average legislator is not open to reason on the subject of public ownership."

"Say 'public ownership' to him and he draws into his shell. He can't be coaxed out. The thing I should most like to do would be to crack that shell. I'm getting together a lot of facts and figures that I hope will form a club heavy enough for the job. For sooner or later that shell will have to be cracked. He'll have to face facts. And the sooner the better."

It didn't occur to me at the time, but I'm going to suggest to Couzens the next time we meet that he propose to the Senate that the private Senatorial car line be turned over to private interests to operate at a profit. Couzens' reaction doubtless would be to demand why a free government car line for senators is good if government rail lines for taxpayers who would pay fare and freight, is unthinkable and socialist.

Bureau chiefs trying to save proposed appropriations for their own divisions. James Couzens, director of the budget, said the amount needed can easily be saved by cutting down on the appropriation for someone else.

"There's like the Scot who was dying in a hospital," Lord says. "Before I die," he said, "I want to hear once more the music of the bagpipes."

"So they sent for the pipes, and they came to the hospital and skinned some string tunes for their stricken countryman. The Scot immediately clucked up. He got well. But all the other patients died."

John T. Adams, Republican national chairman, has sailed for Egypt and the Holy Land. He expects to visit the tomb of King Saitankhamen, 3,000 years deceased.

Pat Harrison, Democratic senator from Mississippi, suggests that John may be studying styles in tombs, preparatory to a G. O. P. burial in 1924.

Senator Cavanaugh, Arkansas, also a Democrat, takes a different view.

"He's seeking new and novel ideas so as to make his party really progressive," says Cavanaugh. "Any idea as recent as 1900 B. C. however, might be too radical and revolutionary for the Republicans."

Knute Nelson, grizzled senatorial "thor" was 30 years old on Groundhog Day, February 2.

King Haakon of Norway, where Nelson was born, sent him a radio message of good greetings.

Harry Daugherty, attorney general, sent him a box of choice chewing tobacco.

He appreciated the message, but he enjoyed the box of plus.

At a recent hearing before the Judiciary Committee, of which Nelson is chairman, he borrowed a chew from Daugherty, having exhausted his supply. He told Daugherty later that was the best he had ever tried. And Daugherty, always thoughtful, remembered Knute's taste when his birthday rolled round.

As a hard chewer, Nelson is now undisputed Washington champion. His only nemesis in recent years was the late Chief Justice White.

NON SUPPORT CHARGED. CHARLES CRAWFORD TO HAVE HEARING MONDAY

Charles Crawford, 30, Detroit, pleaded not guilty to a non-support charge preferred in behalf of Dorothy Crawford, 9, his daughter.

An indictment was returned against the father by the September grand jury. Crawford came to Lima a few days ago to look after some business and was arrested by Sheriff Harvey B. Crosson.

"I haven't been able to care for her," he told Judge Fred C. Becker, "as I've been sick and do not know where she is."

It developed that Crawford has three other children living in the Allen-co home, whom he is partly supporting thru money sent to juvenile court officers.

Dorothy lived with his parents for a time and was taken to Indiana a month ago in some manner, the father does not know why or how.

Judge Becker placed Crawford under $100 bond for his appearance and continued the case until Monday.

Stop Rheumatism!

S. S. S. is the Great Builder of Red-Blood Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Used Since 1826—Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? No? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's a shame and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glow again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twinges and swellings they used to have. I would never over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all. I do it now it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever. It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you. There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change."

S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again

Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firmer. Charlie Batiste, Florence, Texas, writes: "I take great pleasure in letting you know what S. S. S. has done for me. I have used four bottles of S. S. S. I am up so I can walk. The pain has left my leg. Before using S. S. S. I was in bed three months and could not walk. I will recommend S. S. S. to all who suffer with Rheumatism." Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

"Suffering has gone from your face, mother."

LAST WORD IN VAUDEVILLE EXCELLENCE AT FAUROT THEATRE

PROGRAM IS BALANCED TO NICETY

Galaxy of Film Artists Scheduled For Appearance in Programs Throughout the Period

A well balanced and technically high class bill of Keith vaudeville has been assembled by Manager Clark of the Faurot Opera House for the entertainment of theatre goers. From advance reports it will prove one of the strongest programs ever offered by this popular vaudeville house.

As the initial act, the Andrieff Trio offer dance diversion in a new and startling manner. They are all experts in the European art of terpsichore and display many famed styles of dance art never before presented to Americans. Their numbers are wholly exclusive and the finale is said to be the most startling dance diversification that has ever been created.

Arthur Lloyd will demonstrate his right to be called "The humorous card index." He is one of the most proficient card manipulators of the stage. He features his original card production, in which he brings any kind of card called for from one of his several pockets. The complete card collections of Arthur Lloyd numbers more than 3,000.

The Four Songsters are nightingales of melody. Direct from New York successes, they offer a repertoire of high class numbers. A beautiful stage setting enhances the value of the offering and makes the artistic triumph that critics have proclaimed it in every city.

Andy Williams and Billy Clark, two spontaneous comedians whose material is always new and up to the minute, present the premiere act of its kind. These comedians are famous song writers, having to their credit that quartette classic "Sweet Adeline." All their material is exclusive and their dialogue is the kind that scintillates with wit and cleverness.

Choy-Ling-Hoo Troupe, a quintette of Chinese artists who specialize in juggling, acrobatic and other uniquely odd Oriental stunts, present a program of new, novel and original feats. The numbers of this troupe are all competent and versatile acts.

Gloria Swanson and Antonio Moreno in a scene from the Paramount Picture "My American Wife"

At the Quilna.

You will agree that this is one of the best programs offered to vaudeville enthusiasts.

The Royal Pictures

A drama of the most compelling type and bristling with incident is "Travelin' On," a new William S. Hart production which is appearing at the Royal theatre today. It is a Paramount picture.

In the leading role of "J. B." Mr. Hart excels all previous work. His character depiction is a work of art and his supporting cast is powerful. Ethel Grey Terry is the leading woman. It is a tale of the unbridled West, thirty or forty years ago—a story that causes the spectator to sit spellbound till the final scene.

Mr. Hart developed the story into its present striking form. It was produced with skill and cleverness, and it touches the deepest recesses of the heart in its steady development to a smashing climax.

At the Quilna

"My American Wife," the first of the new Paramount "Super 35," opens the week at the Quilna today, with Gloria Swanson starring and Antonio Moreno making his first appearance in Paramount pictures as leading man. The engagement is for four days.

Gauging this production from the critical viewpoint of other cities it is apparent that it is Miss Swanson's best picture, unusually fortunate in that it gives her an interesting and appealing role as well as limitless opportunities to be picturesque. Her personality is especially pleasing and she employs the best of her talent in picturing an exquisite Southern girl, a devotee of the race track and possessed of a darling that gives her life a fascinating trend. Her appearances mark one thrill after another to the fashion fans. The richness of her costumes and now and then the tendency toward the extreme make pictorial appeal in a tremendously interesting story of sports, politics and romance in the colorful Argentine. The horse race, the duel, the flower festival and several other brilliant interiors, including an impressive view of an Argentine parliament hall are some of the material reasons for enjoyment.

As chief support for Miss Swanson Antonio Moreno makes a brilliant debut as a member of the Paramount fold. They make a most attractive pair, both in appearance and effective action. Josef Swickard, Walter Long and Loyal Underwood are other members of the cast who score in the picture, though all of the characters are well done. The Quilna News and an Aesop Fable complete the bill.

For its Washington's birthday program the Quilna has secured a highly appropriate headliner in "The Headless Horseman," an adaptation of Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow." The picture is laid among the Catskills immediately after the close of the revolutionary war and are interesting from a historical standpoint as well as possessing full value as a comedy-drama. Will Rogers, who plays the role of the lanky schoolmaster, Ichabod Crane, is a revelation to those who know him only as the perennial comedian of the Folies and the most popular wit of present day New York activities. His uncanny portrayal leaves little to be desired in this very delightful picture of colonial days. Buster Keaton is another participant in this program who will furnish plenty of laughter in a new comedy, "The High Sign." The Quilna News and the Pathé Review will also be in evidence in this beautiful and enjoyable bill.

The Rialto Pictures

SWITCHING from the dives of Tiva-Tiva in the South Seas to the hot grazing lands of Arizona, the story of "Man to Man" has a wide arrange of appeal. It is a Universal-Jewell feature starring Harry Carey, the actor who is really "human" in Western roles, and is appearing at the Rialto theatre today.

Opposite him Lillian Rich attractively animates a figure in Jackson Gregory's story, a woman as cunning as Miss Rich herself. Really wonderful is this heroine, human enough not to be capable of hearing a hundred lies about the hero without believing some of them, and yet sweet to him because she's in love with him and can't help it.

Harold Goodwin plays a juvenile role, while Alfred Allen and Charles La Moine enact the villainous roles. Willis Richards, who died shortly after "Man to Man" was completed, leaves a masterly characterization in his final role—that of a blind ranch foreman.

Stuart Paton directed the production.

CITY ORDINANCE STIRS LABOR

Enactment By Commission Held To Be Unconstitutional

CONDEMNED IN RESOLUTION

Trades And Labor Council Voices Its Disapproval

Opposition to the ordinance enacted by the city commission, multiplying against agents from out of the city seeking employment of labor here to be sent to other points, has developed in the ranks of the members of the Lima Trades and Labor council.

The feeling that exists among members of the council has found expression in a resolution adopted by that body, unanimously, the officers report.

"At all times," the resolution reads, "the labor class of Lima, Ohio and the nation, has been capable of and equal to the task of seeking employment, where and when conditions pertaining to their welfare was agreeable."

"The resolution further asserts that 'at least one of our largest industries has been in the habit of placing advertisements in a great many newspapers of the surrounding country for the sole purpose, it seems, of trying to induce a class of people to their plant who are not familiar with wage and working conditions."

"We also know," the resolution continues, "that at least one of our largest industries have labor agents about the country at various times for the purpose of trying to induce men to accept positions with this concern."

HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The Trades and Labor council holds that the labor legislation enacted by the city commission on February 12, 1925, is unconstitutional and unconstitutional.

It further voices an appeal to "those concerned in this proposed legislation that they refrain from enacting any laws pertaining to the importation or exodus of any man or woman who are American citizens, who may be favored with an opportunity in strict accord with their constitutional rights, to better their wage and working conditions in Lima or other cities."

The resolution adopted by the labor council is signed by W. E. Duffner, corresponding secretary and M. D. Dickson, Frank Bruckner and John Hart, committee.

Copy of the protest was filed with C. A. Bingham, city manager, and with the city commission.

"This law is unconstitutional," Charles W. Wessner, president of the Trades and Labor council said Saturday, "because it deprives citizens of certain rights, among which is the right to know what their labor is worth in outside markets; also because it exempts certain classes, such as fraternal, charitable, labor and railroad organizations, which makes it class legislation. This law also abridges freedom of speech," Wessner added.

DELPHOS SERVER SEEKS ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS FOR CLEANER STREETS

Enforcement of the provisions of an ordinance on the books at Delphos are urged by Service Director Ed Spellman to assist the work of keeping streets clean.

Street cleaning has been curtailed since city funds have been cut down and there is only $10 available with which to conduct a spring cleanup campaign, he declared.

Spellman calls attention to an ordinance making it unlawful for citizens to place sweepings from stores and other buildings on the streets; littering them with paper and otherwise adding to the work of the street cleaners. Indiscriminate use of streets as dumping grounds provides a problem difficult to solve with limited funds, according to Spellman.

Delphos street cleaning has been taken care of by two men and a team, all that the city funds warrant. Should they be employed steadily funds would last only 25 days, but to keep streets in at least ordinary presentable condition the work must be drawn out for six months, the service director points out.

FATHER AND SON WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE DURING COMING WEEK

Lima will co-operate with other cities in observance of Father and Son Week, February 13 to February 25, according to R. V. Neal, Boys' Work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Father and Son Week is a nationwide affair and has the following purposes:

First: To get fathers to renew their interest in their paternal obligations.

Second: To lead sons to deeper respect and appreciation for their fathers and homes.

Third: To lead both fathers and sons to regard the church and Sunday school as necessary to the finest development of their spiritual lives, and to secure their co-operation and support of the church.

Many of the churches of Lima will hold their Father and Son banquets during the coming week, while all visitors will make special mention of the subject at Sunday's service, February 25.

DAUGHTER OF DELPHOS MAN DIES IN FAR WEST

Mrs. Beattie Sawyer, 42, daughter of Charles Carey, six miles south of Delphos, died in Pasco, Washington, according to information received by Delphos relatives Saturday.

She was the wife of Thomas Sawyer. The family has been living in Washington for 12 years. Mrs. Sawyer was well known in Delphos. She leaves besides her husband and a son, two brothers and a sister, George Carey, Portland, Ind.; Barney Carey, Kansas and Mrs. Stephen Meeker, Oklahoma.

Funeral services are expected to be held at Delphos, Tuesday.

Dobbin Still Restricted By Delphos Law

If Dobbin could talk, he might suggest as a measure of respect for those who have served man faithfully from earliest time that a certain ordinance on Delphos statute books be repealed.

This measure, passed September 16, 1883, and signed by Joseph H. Murphy, then mayor, provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to drive a horse thru Delphos streets at a gait faster than a trot, and pass all bridges at a walk.

In these days when his sun is obscured by the vision of his great rival—the automobile—the greatest friend of man still has cruel laws to remind him of the pleasant times of yesteryear, whether he did duty as part of a coach and four, or was just a huckster's plug.

The ordinance still stands, black on white. Delphos did not wing in with other cities thruout the country several years ago in repealing such laws advocated by the Horco Breeders' association of America.

When passed, the ordinance was deemed to afford protection to pedestrians, but now since his fellow creatures have become so few in number why not substitute in its stead more strict auto regulations? A. H. Dobbin, one of the greatest animal friends of man.

ROUNDUP PLANNED BY POLICEMEN

All Citizens To Be Held Up By Coppers Of City

Police are planning one of the most stupendous round-ups of citizens ever staged here.

"There is little doubt but that about every resident of the city will be stopped by a policeman in the next few days and will be called upon to give a detailed explanation of his activities."

It doesn't mean that every citizen is to be arrested, but simply that, between times, when they are not arresting bootleggers or finding "drunk" in the station, the police are planning to call tickets for the Sixth annual policemen's ball to be given at Memorial Hall, April 2.

The coppers' ball, which has become an annual affair will be "bigger and better than ever," according to advance announcement made by the committee, which consists of Sergeant Edwards, Willie Kuyper and Ray Blair.

The music, which will be engaged during the coming week, will be a nationally known orchestra and one of the biggest crowds, ever assembled at a dance is expected to tip the light last night.

The proceeds of the dance will be used to purchase new police uniforms for the police next summer.

"The proper procedure, according to the members of the committee, will be for every citizen to carry a dollar bill in his overcoat pocket, in order to save time when approached by the policeman."

INDUSTRIAL CLUBS OF Y. W. PLAN WEDNESDAY BANQUET; PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK

The most important event of the week's program at the Y. W. C. A. is a banquet to be given by the Federation of Industrial Clubs, Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in the gymnasium.

Nine clubs are represented, each club composed of girls from various industrial concerns in the city. The employer of each club, board of directors and the industrial committee will be guests. Girls employed at the Lima Locomotive Works have also been invited to attend the banquet.

An interesting program has been announced for the evening. Also Anna Steuber, prominent Y. W. C. A. worker of Ft. Wayne, will be the principal speaker. Miss Steuber was a delegate to the convention at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Tom Pearson of the Y. M. C. A. will give an address on "The New Challenge of Employer and Employee." Toasts and short talks by club members and employers will constitute the remainder of the program.

Other events for the coming week as announced are:

Monday, World Fellowship committee, Grace Kruse, chairman, 7 p. m.; poster class, 7 p. m.; Trotty Week pep meeting, 7 p. m.

Tuesday, trustees meeting, 12:30 p. m.; publicity committee, Mrs. O. N. Young, chairman, 2:30 p. m.; Bible class, Mrs. A. N. Wisley, leader, 7 p. m.; industrial committee, Mrs. Harry Taylor, chairman, 7 p. m.

Wednesday, first of a series of Lenten talks on "Impressions on Jesus"; Central Blue Triangle discussion on "Community Citizenship," 4 p. m.

Friday, employment and rooms registry committee, 2:30 p. m.; P. O. P. club, 6 p. m.

DELPHOS FRESHMEN PLAN DEBATE ON IMMIGRATION

Freshmen members of Jefferson high school, Delphos, will debate two-year restriction of immigration to the United States Friday, as part of a freshmen program.

Naomi Guenper, Paul Elcho and Avenell Davies will have the affirmative and Elaine Liber, Byron Cochran and Mary Louth the negative.

DELPHOS KIWANIS PHOTOS HONOR WASHINGTON

Washington's Birthday, Thursday, will be observed Monday by the Delphos Kiwanis club at its regular noonday luncheon. Observance will be in the nature of a song-fest of national anthems.

Matters pertaining to the community fair, fostered by the club for the benefit of the Delphos city park, will be taken up. R. A. K. Hoeger, pastor of the Ft. Jennings Lutheran church, will speak.

PRIEST AS K. G. SPEAKER
Rev. John W. Kunner, Catholic priest of New Washington, will be the speaker Tuesday night at a booster meeting of Delphos Knights of Columbus. He is an expert on purebred livestock. All farmer members have been extended special invitations.

Firestone

The Double Proof of Firestone Dependability

The success of Firestone Cord Tires goes back to the high character of service they have rendered unvaryingly from the beginning. They have taken their place among the leaders in public preference because they have elicited extraordinary praise from the thousands who have adopted them.

Firestone users discover more than exceptional mileage capacity. They are conscious of a sense of trustworthiness in these tires that enhances their satisfaction.

Firestone Cords have proved their superiority on highways of every State in the Union. The resilient cord carcass and the rugged tread in symmetrical anti-skid pattern are combined in a balanced construction that makes driving easier, safer and more economical.

Firestone dependability has been strikingly demonstrated not only in daily use, but in the hard, intense grind on the important taxicab and trucks in Lima.

ROTARY BIRTHDAY PLANS READY

Lima Clubmen To Observe Event In Luncheon Monday

PRESIDENT HARDING ADDRESS

Citizenship Campaign To Be Launched All Over Country

Lima Rotary club will celebrate the eighteenth anniversary of Rotary International Monday noon at the regular weekly meeting, with addresses by several members.

The program, which has not been completely arranged, will include a resume of the works of the Rotary International and addresses on Rotary work by several of the most prominent men in the United States will be read.

Anniversary week will also be linked up with the organization's citizenship campaign, in which every member will take part.

Throughout the world the coming week Rotary International is broadcasting by radio and thru speeches in schools, industrial plants, in civic societies and clubs, messages on the obligations and responsibilities of the individual citizen from the heads of the various branches of government in twenty-seven countries.

There are approximately fourteen hundred Rotary Clubs scattered over every continent with a total membership of more than 20,000. Practically every citizen is engaged in this citizenship campaign during the course of the next week.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

In the United States the messages that are being sent out include the one from President Harding on the individual citizen's responsibility for administration of the laws. Speaker Frederick Gillett of the House of Representatives on the citizen's responsibility for legislation and Attorney General Daugherty on the citizen's responsibility for the operation of the courts.

The full text of President Harding's message follows:

"The individual citizen's responsibility for executive government begins with the selection of the Executive. This implies the duty of every voter to vote a duty that many millions of them regularly will perform. Before that, it implies the duty to vote intelligently, to make the vote represent a deliberate decision based on the claims of the opposing parties and candidates.

Finally, the Executive being duly selected, it implies the obligation to give him the support of all good citizens in every effort of administration of the law. That citizen who regards himself as a model of the civic responsibilities, because his present conduct is impeccable; but who does not cooperate with the civil authorities or exert his influence in behalf of the best possible administration of the laws, greatly overrates his own usefulness as a citizen. The responsible officers of government, whether it be municipal, state or national, need and are entitled to the full and effective support of all citizens in the enforcement of laws.

"If the effort of Rotary should be effective in impressing this conception of the citizen's duty it will have performed a most useful service."

STATE HEALTHERS' DELAY ON DISPOSAL PLANS COSTS LIMA BIG, BINGHAM SAYS

Sometime—

The state board of health will hold a meeting.

Sometime—a long time later—

Lima will have a direct oxidation sewage disposal plant, which will represent the most up-to-date methods of sewage disposal and which will fill a pressing want.

This feeling was expressed at the City hall Saturday, following receipt of a letter from the chairman of the state board, in which it is stated that the plans for the Lima plant have not been submitted to that body.

Furthermore, the letter conveys nothing which seems to forecast immediate action. Lima city officials can give no reason for the unreasonable delay, which is said to be costing the city a considerable amount of money.

D. T. & C. IS SOLD TO JUNKERS

Abandoned Rail Line in Western Allen-co to Be Torn Up

Property of the old D. T. & C. railroad, at one time conceded to be the best narrow gauge railway in the world, passes to the West Virginia Rail company, Huntington, West Virginia, by terms of a journal entry made Saturday in Miami-co common pleas court, Troy.

The property includes the northern terminal at Delphos. The court ordered it sold to wind up a receivership.

It was decided that the bid of the West Virginia company, offered February 10, is the best. Bids were received for the property as a whole and piecemeal. The West Virginia Rail company's bid was $210,000.

One hundred and two miles of track, all equipment, property rights, right-of-way and tools has been ordered to be turned over by the receiver, W. H. Osborn, within six months from March 1, 1923.

The equipment will be loaded on cars and delivered at a junction point and the purchasing company will give its certified check for $50,000 for the first payment. This procedure will be carried on until all property is delivered.

All other offers except that of Carl M. Groves for a mile of track at West Milton were rejected, according to information from the Miami-co clerk of courts. This property was reserved by the court and handled separately from other effects.

railroads bought the Delphos terminal. The former bid $2,500 and the latter $3,000.

It is now no longer necessary for Chicago & Erie railroad trains to make an extra stop at Spencerville, at the crossing of the D. T. & C. as the rails have been removed on both sides of the C. & E. right of way and the crossing eliminated.

NEED LESS SOAP

City Water Getting "Softer," Chemist Smith Declares

One of the greatest facts of interest to the small school boys came to light Saturday in a report made to City Manager Bingham by W. E. Smith, superintendent of the city filtration plant.

It's just this—necks and ears are being scrubbed clean with exactly one-half the amount of soap that was required three years ago. Morning ablutions are performed with less rubbing and with less squirming and kicking on the part of the small boy.

In the technical report filed with Bingham, the present coefficient of hardness of the city water is given as 150, while in 1920 the coefficient was 300.

The reason for this, according to Smith's report, is that both city reservoirs were nearly empty in December, but due to the mild winter, have been filled with melted ice and snow.

The water has not absorbed a considerable amount of minerals in passing thru the frozen ground, hence the extreme softness of the water.

The lessened amount of soap will not be noticeable as the water has been gradually growing softer and the amount of soap required to produce "suds" has been less each year. As both reservoirs are now full, it is Smith's opinion that the water will remain at its present softness for the entire summer.

THE WINDSOR JEWELRY CO.

122 W. Market St.

2 LOCAL BOYS TO FIGHT

The fact that two local bantam, who have not appeared in a Lima ring for several months, are to appear on both ends of the double-windup show at Memorial Hall Monday night is sure to draw a capacity house.

Babe Brown, who has not fought here since meeting Jake Gross at Murphy-st. park last July, will battle Willie Ames in the last ten-round affair. The first piece of resistance will be between Don Baxter and Jack White of Toledo.

Brown has won decisions over Andy Bowen and Al Wolcott in the last two fight shows at Port Wayne, and feels that he will be able to give Ames a hard fight. Brown's benchmen, who have been watching his progress in training for the battle declare that the local boy will win the decision, unless the Akron flash shows a great deal more than he did against Bowen in the last show.

The battle with Jack White will be Baxter's first fight in several months. He has been training for several months and has worked faithfully and hard. Right now, the 118-pounder is said to be in wonderful condition and to be faster and clever than ever. White, who was signed up upon the recommendation of Ad Thatcher, Toledo matchmaker, is reputed to be mighty fast, and Thatcher declared that unless Baxter was in the pink of condition, he would have a hard time winning over the Toledo leather pusher.

Steamboat Bartlett, a 200-pounder, will be a newcomer into the Lima ring when he meets Tommy Warren. Bartlett has fought around Los Angeles and Duluth, and expects to do a lot of fighting in this section of the country. The opening event will be four rounds between Young Morris and Ralph Young, the Cridersville youngster.

Demand for tickets, according to Charles Maxwell and L. A. Geiger, of the Lima Gym Club, is heavy and a full house is predicted.

CITY HALL SALE PLAN APPROVED

Sentiment Found Unanimous In High-St District

BIDS ARE TO BE SOUGHT

Commission Expected To Act On Proposal Monday

Continuing along the line of effort to ascertain the general sentiment concerning the proposed sale of the old city hall in W. High-st. and the erection of a new structure to house city offices, a representative of The Lima News Saturday called on business men in High-st. between Main-st. and Elizabeth-st. One hundred per cent sentiment was found in favor of the sale of the old structure. In several canvasses made by The News, little opposition to the movement has been disclosed.

"We have had no communications on the subject," C. A. Bingham, city manager, said Saturday, "but I have discussed the project and reports received from members of the commission who have talked to others there is practically a unanimous sentiment that the deal should go through."

COMMISSION MAY ACT
The proposition will come up before the commission Monday night, it is declared by officials, in the form of legislation asking for bids on the old property. This is expected to be the most important feature of the regular commission meeting. Large numbers of interested citizens will be present, it is anticipated by Bingham.

Following announcement made a week ago that the commission is in a receptive mood for offers on the building and ground, provided the proposal is approved by the people, several parties have sought information, but no direct offers have been made. However, intimation has been that several parties expect to submit propositions.

Under the provisions of the law, it will be necessary to advertise for bids on the building for five weeks before action can be taken. Consequently, it is not believed that a definite offer will be made by anyone before the expiration of the legal period of advertising.

The commission is expected to consider the proposal to add two or three more stories to the present safety building in E. High-st. to house city offices. The old structure is being abandoned.

Whether the walls of the safety building are of sufficient stability to permit of the addition of more floors is not apparent at this time, although an investigation was made two or three years ago when a proposed addition for the abandonment of the old city hall as a fire trap and menace to city residents.

Results of interviews with business men in the block wherein city hall is located, discloses sentiment unanimous in favor of the proposed property sale, although several parties approached the commission to express an opinion for or against.

SENTIMENT UNANIMOUS
O. P. MARMON, druggist: "It is absolutely in keeping with the times, to move it out of its present location to make room for new business."

J. L. ROSE, jeweler: "I would like to see it moved to the center of the square, for it is an eye-sore as it now stands."

R. H. WAGENMAN, Ottawa Paint company: "I would be in favor of building it in the square and moving offices from the present location."

L. C. DARENT, manager Kinney's shoe store: "I have every reason in the world to believe it should be located on the square."

DON JOHNS, music store: "Sell it out and build the square."

EARL METZGER, Mecca cigar store: "I think it would be a good thing and a great improvement for W. High-st."

TOM TOWNSEND, haberdashery: "I think it would be a good thing if it out and build in the square."

J. W. GENSEL, secretary of South Side Building and Loan company: "The property ought to be sold, but the building should not be put in the square. I believe they should beautifully the space there."

A. I. U. INITIATION
A class of 40 candidates will be initiated as a Washington's Birthday feature, by Lima Chapter Number 6, American Insurance Union, Hawisher Hall, West High-st. Thursday evening, George W. Hosiage, national secretary, Columbus will be present and deliver an address on fraternalism.

ABE MARTIN

It used to be when a boy baby was born somebody was allus around it say, "Well, I'm glad it's a boy, fer boys 'll raise 'emselves." We've allus noticed that a father steps a lot higher if th' new baby is a boy. If it's a girl he acts cheated—like he'd won fourth prize, or had been almost nominated for somethin'. But we don't think a girl baby interferes with scrubbin' an' cookin' an' card playin' an' club activities any more'n a boy baby does. In fact we don't believe any kind of a baby interferes with its parents so awful much any more. Even if a boy baby does sort o' look out for himself fer th' first few years, his father has got somethin' to worry about when he gets up to fifteen—that period when he knows more'n his teacher an' his father, an' combs his hair all th' time—th' age when he lines up with his mother against his father an' wants to play a mandolin. It's no wonder th' average father gets scared when he suddenly realizes his son is fifteen, an' that somethin' 'll have to be done about it. He recalls all th' years he wasted after fifteen—all th' escapades, his first stogie, all th' three-dollar-per-week jobs he failed at, how near he came to bein' a brakeman, th' long golden hours devoted to pool, th' ole lively stable gang, how close he come to gittin' married at eighteen, an' all the other narrow escapes from death an' jail before he finally found himself settled down. After a son reaches fifteen his father begins to wonder how his wife is goin' to direct him to he'll sidestep all th' pitfalls she knows nothin' about. O' course th' livery stable is gone forever, but th' garage is a lot at. Rememberin' his own career an' all th' allurements that he's set his youth he naturally feels that he's peculiarly fitted to warn his son agin a few things, but he hates to butt in. His wife has her own ideas about raisin' a son an' it would only make trouble an' widen th' breach between himself an' his boy. Ever' day in ever' wuz at his age—same shaped head an' nose, a trifle knock-kneed, right heel inclined to run over just as his has allus done, a fondness for th' same sports, th' same poor grades in ever' thing but spellin', th' same hang dog look when he gets in a jam, th' same deep rooted aversion to any kind o' home work, an'

On Topics o' th' Day

th' same sweet, ingratin' style when he wants an initial belt or a football. Is it any wonder that th' father of a fifteen-year-old boy worries. He's anxious to do his part, an' guide his son in th' way he should go. But he realizes that he must hold his home together an' git on with his wife. He don't want his wife an' son to leave him. Th' average father of a fifteen-year-old son is in a mighty tryin' position. He don't fergit he wuz young once himself as is commonly supposed. He remembers it, an' he wants to do ever' thing in his power to put his son on th' right road. But how he kin do it without wreckin' his home is th' question.

TOLEDO MAN WILL ADDRESS FORUM

Dr. Leiserson Announced For Meeting Here Sunday

Dr. W. M. Leiserson of Toledo will address the members of the Lima Open Forum, at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Trinity M. E. church. He will speak on the subject, "The Minimum Wage for Women."

Dr. Leiserson is chairman of the Board of Arbitration of the Men's and Boys' Clothing Industry of New York City, a joint board formed by the Clothing Manufacturers' association of New York City and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, for the settlement of industrial questions and doing away with strikes and lock-outs. He was also chosen by President Harding to be a member of the President's Unemployment conference of which Herbert Hoover was chairman. Dr. Leiserson emigrated to the United States from Estonia when nine years of age, graduating from Columbia university and has since been a member of the Pittsburgh Social survey, Deputy Industrial Commissioner of Wisconsin, consulting expert in the United States Employment service during the World War, and was in charge of the Americanization study conducted by the Carnegie Corporation, was in charge of the Division of Labor of the United States Division of Labor of the Department of Labor and is now a member of the faculty of Toledo university.

Luther Spayde, son of Rev. W. C. Spade, will give an organ recital preceding the forum program.
Judge William Kilgus is president of the forum.

Poor Trapping Season, Old Timers Say; Tell of Luck

Annual Fur Crop In Allen-Co Has Been Harvested

MINK, "RATS" STILL LEGAL

Mounting Values Of Hides Makes Work Profitable

Allen-co annual fur crop is almost harvested.

Trappers who each year work a line of traps up and down the streams of the county, report a slack season. The weather was too warm thru most of the year to produce the best pelts.

Coon hunters, on the contrary, who do not resort to traps to procure their game, enjoyed a fine season. There are several hunters in and about Lima who captured not less than 20 of these animals.

Opossum were also taken in large numbers, but are not so highly prized for their pelts.

The season on most fur-bearing game is closed. Only mink and muskrat may still be trapped. The season will close on them March 1.

Open season on raccoon, opossum, fox and skunk closed February 1. Squirrel season closed in October.

Trapping in former years was and still is a valuable source of income for many residents of the county.

Pelts sell for good prices and the demand for furs is on the increase. Skins that were formerly considered almost worthless, are becoming highly prized.

"RAT" HIDES VALUABLE
Muskrat hides, for instance, once sold for as low as a few cents each. Dealers in the county have paid an average of $1 for raw hides this season. When plucked and dyed, the skin sells under the trade name of Hudson seal.

Raccoon is another highly prized fur, rather popular for manufacture of women's coats. Mink is perhaps the most prized fur found in the country today.

Some of the furs that are sometimes taken in the county are ground hog and weasel. House cat skins sell under the name of civet cat.

Skunk is another fur much sought after and still fairly plentiful. Inexperienced trappers are, however, advised to bait their traps for other sort of game, if they do not know how to treat the skins.

However, other and martin were once found in this territory. However, there have been no beaver in Allen-co for almost 50 years, it is stated. Once they were hunted by the hundreds along the rivers and streams.

Another fur that finds its way to market from Allen-co is the pelt of tame hare, raised by rabbit breeders. The skins of their wild brothers command a very low price. Rabbit skins are used to imitate beaver, seal and some other skins.

AUDITORIUM PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED

Board Of Commerce Committee Will Meet Monday

Definite results which will be seen in securing a site and the erection of a mammoth auditorium wherein an annual festival may be held, representative of the progress being made by the city, are expected to be given impetus at the first meeting of the Board of Commerce committee, comprising H. E. Simonton, chairman, R. B. Dunn and W. J. Fitzgerald.

This committee was named for the purpose of endeavoring to lease a site and develop plans for the erection of a community auditorium.

The first committee meeting will be held Monday morning and two sites, which have been offered will be considered. Both tracts are located near the river, one on the north side and the other on the south side. While no definite information has been given out by the committee, it is said that both are close to the edge of the business district, and are easily accessible from all sections of the city.

Besides considering the qualifications of the two tracts, already mentioned, the committee will discuss plans for financing a Pageant of Progress organization, which will stage a yearly show. Present tentative plans, which will be considered call for a number of business men to back the movement as guarantors.

OHIO'S THIRD LARGEST AUTOMOBILE SHOW TO BE HELD AT TABERNACLE MARCH 6-10

100 CARS WILL BE ON DISPLAY

Lima Automobile Show One Of Events Of The Year

SPECIAL MUSIC PROGRAM

Decorations To Be Made By Beck, Of Cincinnati

The Lima Automobile Show, which opens at the tabernacle on Tuesday, March 6 and continues thru Saturday, March 10, will be the third largest held in the state this year, being exceeded in number of cars on display only by the Cleveland and Akron shows.

According to the floor plan as laid out by R. H. Phillips, directing manager of the show, it will be possible to display in excess of one hundred cars in the tabernacle, in addition to the numerous accessory booths which will be distributed throughout the building. In spite of the number of cars which can be handled, however, there is not sufficient space available to care for the demand as every automobile dealer in Lima has made application to show his entire line.

With this enthusiastic cooperation shown the show management by the local dealers, it will be possible to make this the greatest event of its kind ever held in northwestern Ohio. The number of cars shown will greatly exceed the number on the floor of the Toledo, Columbus and even the Cincinnati shows, and with practically every popular make and model automobile on display, will afford the discriminating prospective buyer a wonderful opportunity of inspecting for himself the fine points and various claims made by the exhibitors.

The Great American Mutual Indemnity Company of Mansfield, under whose direction the show is being held, is leaving nothing undone to make it as complete, in every detail, as an automobile show can possibly be made. The tabernacle will be elaborately decorated by the Beck Company of Cincinnati, professional decorators who have done similar work for the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Columbus and other big city shows, and their contract stipulates that the building shall be a riot of color and beauty for the occasion.

Arrangements have also been made to bring the best musical organizations and entertaining talent available here to take part in the daily programs.

The dealers have already started to make a generous distribution of attractive lithographs, posters and window cards throughout the territory within a radius of forty miles from Lima and the event is one which will undoubtedly attract hundreds of out-of-town visitors to the city. It is the wish of the automobile dealers to make the show a big civic event—one in which every civic organization in Lima shall take an active interest, and one from which all the merchants of the city shall profit.

CADILLAC HONORED IN ENGLISH AUTO EVENT

The Dwyer Trophy, given in England to the automobile making the greatest advance in the world during the current year, was awarded in two different years, (1908 and 1913) to the Cadillac. It was the first and is the only American car to receive such recognition abroad, and it is the only car of any land to be so honored twice.

GREATER DEMAND FOR LINCOLNS

February 4 marked the anniversary of the acquisition of the Lincoln Motor plant by the Ford Motor Company. A year ago on that date several thousand persons gathered before the main entrance of the Lincoln plant in Detroit to witness the sale. There was a turbulent scene when the announcement was made that the Ford Motor Company was the highest bidder. What has followed since that memorable event? The Lincoln motor division of the Ford Motor Company has enjoyed the greatest period in its history.

The year 1922 was the largest year for Lincoln production of any year since the car has been built. The shipments during the month of January, 1922, were but 29 cars. Then the Ford Motor Company took over the Lincoln and for the month of February shipments of Lincoln cars increased to 156.

Deliveries gained each month until June when 723 Lincoln cars were delivered. Total shipments from the Lincoln Motor company plant of Lincoln cars for the year 1922 were 5,242.

During the year a number of improvements and refinements were incorporated into the manufacture of the Lincoln car in upholding the company's contention that the Lincoln car is the finest automobile on the market.

HAS BIG SURPRISE FOR SHOW

One of the most attractive group of cars to be shown this year is that of the new Chevrolet Superior line, comprising touring car, roadster, utility coupe, sedanette, sedan and delivery cars.

C. H. Black, local distributor for Chevrolets announces that his organization went over the top during January with the largest volume of sales of any one month since he took over the line. The sales for January exceeded the quota set by the sales manager of the Chevrolet company, making a total sales showing of 125 per cent.

"The new improvements on the Chevrolet with no increase in price have been responsible for this great amount of business," said Mr. Black.

For the automobile show to be held here March 6-10, the local agency has a decided surprise for the buyer of a low priced car. Mr. Black says he won't let anyone in on the secret until that time.

UNIQUE METHODS AT NASH PLANT

The cream separator, heretofore confined to the placid routine farm life, has been adopted by the automobile industry and put to work amid the hum and roar of factory machinery. This is true at least in the big factories of The Nash Motor company where thousands of dollars are saved each year in the motor test department by the reclamation of oil thru cream separators, according to Manager McKinley, of The Lima Nash company.

Incidentally the Nash motor test department is a shining illustration of manufacturing efficiency. This is of interest to the ultimate car buyer for the reason that precise methods of manufacture and elimination of waste are what make possible a low list price.

Oil for reclamation is placed in a large reservoir; from there it is piped into two 150-gallon tanks which stand on a platform just above a special centrifugal cream separator. In the overhead tanks the oil is heated by steam to a proper temperature after which it is allowed to settle for a period of eight hours. The fluid is then run thru the cream separator the centrifugal action of which removes practically all remaining foreign matter.

Light ends, water and other foreign substance, by means of this process, are practically eliminated from the lubricant with the result that the reclaimed oil is very high in quality.

The reclamation of oil is but one phase of Nash factory efficiency. In the test department one motor "breaks-in" another; city illuminating gas, in place of gasoline, being used as fuel. The old-time dynamometer method was too slow.

TRACTOR "CLINIC" THIS WEEK

DELPHOS CHORAL READY FOR EISTEDDFOD HERE

One of the attractive features of the Fordson clinic to be held Wednesday, Feb. 21, at the Timmerman Motor Sales company, 440 North Main-st., will be the showing of a cut section of a Fordson revealing all the working parts of the tractor.

For entertainment and instruction several addresses on tractor farming and farming in general will be delivered. Among the speakers will be a representative of the Allen county farm bureau and a representative from the Fordson department of the Ford Motor company.

The clinic will be under the direction of Forest Wooler, head of the tractor department of the Timmerman Motor Sales company. A general invitation has been extended to everyone interested in tractors. It is anticipated that at least five hundred farmers will be present.

LEGION BUYS HOME WILMINGTON — The Blanchester post of the American Legion has purchased the Shank Building and will fit it into a legion home.

Built to Endure

The 1923 series Studebaker Special-Six Sedan, introduced in 1923, with 1923 refinements and betterments, well upholds the Studebaker tradition of fine coach building.

Sterling quality of materials and the most skillful craftsmanship are reflected inside and out, in the appearance of this car, in its sturdy construction and in its equipment.

The handsome body, built by Studebaker, will last for years. There is no makeshift or compromise embodied in its manufacture—the quality of Studebaker materials, workmanship and finish is never cheapened to meet a price.

Upholstery is of highest grade mohair velvet plush, laid over soft, restful, ten-inch cushions. Thick carpets are harmonious in tone. Fittings include a vanity case, smoking set and vase.

No body combines a greater degree of luxury, enduring beauty and convenience.

The Studebaker Special-Six chassis is practically unchanged in general design. It has no experimental features. It possesses the same mechanical excellence that has distinguished the Special-Six as the outstanding leader among quality cars at quantity prices.

The name Studebaker stands for quality, durability, comfort and integrity. It will never appear on a makeshift job.

RAIL LINE BEING FINANCED

Defiance & Lima Project To Have Gasoline Motor Cars

DETAILS ARE WORKED OUT

New Departure In Freight Handling Is Contemplated

Details of the financing of the D. & L. Railway, formerly the Defiance branch of the I. C. & E. Railway, are being worked out for presentation to the state public utilities commission, it was announced by A. D. Bowen Saturday.

In order to thoroughly equip the line with the latest type of gasoline driven cars and to provide the railway with proper terminal facilities in Lima and Defiance, it will be necessary to issue securities and these must be approved by the commission, it was pointed out.

As soon as the approval of the commission has been accorded the company will prepare to pay the remainder due on the line by the time the option expires April 1, Bowen said. Ten per cent of $12,500 has been paid.

It is planned to put a new type of gasoline driven passenger car in operation on the line, to establish a passenger station and freight office in the heart of Defiance and to place freight sheds in Lima, it is announced.

Under the franchise of the I. C. & E. Railway, it was impossible for tracks to be laid into the heart of Defiance. With the cooperation of the citizens of the city however, permission has been obtained to lay tracks and to maintain a modern office.

INCREASED TRAFFIC

This will greatly increase traffic between Lima and Defiance, Bowen points out, as many persons have hesitated to use the line because of the inconvenience caused them by having to go to the edge of the city to take the car.

Under the plan evolved, citizens along the line will own the subway and will have control of it. It will be operated, however, by the American Railway Operating Co. who believe the line can be made to pay adequate dividends.

With gasoline cars in use on the line, it is believed that present operating costs can be cut in half and that with the boosting of freight business the line can be made a successful project.

It is planned to initiate in Lima and Defiance, in the towns along the line a new type of freight service. Bowen has pointed out. This calls for picking up of the freight by motor truck at the shipper's place of business, hauling by the new gasoline cars and the delivery to the consignee within the space of not more than 24 hours.

By combining the three operations it will be possible to make a rate that will be lower than the direct hauling by motor truck and will make business for the company, it is believed.

Temporary headquarters will be established in Defiance and probably in Lima, Bowen announced. Sheds will be built for the cars, but it has not been decided where they will be located.

CLUES DEVELOP IN AUTO THEFTS

Delphos And Van Wert Police Say Arrests Are Near

Two separate clues Saturday night pointed to early arrest of thieves who stole a Studebaker auto belonging to Cecil Hossinger, Kendallville, Ind., and believed to be responsible for theft of a Nash roadster belonging to E. Fortner, Delphos.

Sheriff Ed Terry of Van Wert-co was in Roanoke and Ft. Wayne Saturday night, hunting down clues leading to a tall one-armed man. Description was furnished by John Edwards, near Conroy, who picked up two men early Tuesday shortly after the Studebaker had broken down west of Van Wert. He conveyed them to Van Wert and later it was found the Studebaker was stolen.

Delphos police believe that the pair afterward visited that city and stole the Fortner car.

The one-armed man is alleged to be employed in Roanoke. A Ft. Wayne man also answered the description and officers are pursuing both lines. There are also good indications that the other alleged thief, a short, heavy set individual, will be picked up, according to Delphos Patrolman Al Humphreys Saturday night.

Arrests may establish connection with four thefts, the Kendallville and Delphos cases and two in Van Wert and Columbus Grove, and unearth an auto theft ring, police believe.

REALTORS ADOPT INNOVATION

Properties To Be Listed With All Members Of Board

An innovation in the sale of real estate will be instituted by the Lima Real Estate Board in a few weeks, following the adoption of the multiple listing system, according to announcement made Saturday by Simon Fishel.

The new system is being used very successfully in other cities, it is said. It is a scheme whereby the person who wishes to either buy or sell property can deal thru one broker and receive the advantage of the properties listed by every member of the board.

The owner of a property, who wishes to sell, gives one member of the board the exclusive right to sell his property. The broker then sends a description of the property to every other member of the board, together with price and other facts. In this way, the property is for sale thru every member of the real estate board, while the seller looks to but one man to care for his interests in completing the sale.

A probable purchaser, instead of running from office to office, looking at their listings, can go to one broker. The complete listings of every broker will be available and a great deal of time and energy is saved, it is pointed out.

The reason of the adoption of the new system, according to Fishel, is that the Lima Real Estate Board is endeavoring to give the public better service in buying and selling real estate and also assure each client greater care in completing the transactions.

MINORITY REPORT IN PAVING CLASH

Delphos Councilman Aims Views
In Municipal Mixup

COUNCIL SEES FURTHER LOSS

Citizens Stand Pat Against Present Board Of Control

In a minority report Saturday by Councilman John Lehmkuhle in the latest move by Delphos city council in the controversy developed by the proposed paving of S. Main, S. Pierce and Cleveland-sts., he attacks wisdom of the aldermen in putting final responsibility up to property owners.

Lehmkuhle is the only member who voted negatively Tuesday night when council considered a motion contemplating transfer of $27,000 secured from sale of bonds to pay the city's portion, providing property owners advance good reasons why the improvement should not go forward.

Members John Scherger, Charles Rahrig, William Scherger and Wilbur Ditto voted affirmatively. Councilman Frank Pfeiffer and Ben Davis were not present.

Council fears a further loss of approximately $1,000 in the matter, members state. The city already has paid $2,562.77 for engineer's fees, advertising, miscellaneous expenses and court costs. Unwillingness of the local depository accepting the city's share of $27,000 after March 17, at more than a three per cent interest rate instead of six per cent which was contracted for a year ago when council deposited the money, spurred council to action.

PETITION REQUIRED
Under the terms of the resolution, suggested by President John Allenburger, property owners must present a petition bearing names of property representing a majority of the front footage along the three thoroughfares.

"If council goes ahead and requires property owners to present a petition, the city will face another loss of about $3,000," Lehmkuhle declared.

"If the city's portion of the paving fund is transferred to the sinking fund it will be impossible to use it within less than three years afterward, and should the improvement be floated earlier there would again be the cost of hiring an engineer and other expense," the councilman stated, adding that he speaks authoritatively from recent information.

Lehmkuhle said it is the sentiment of a majority of property owners he spoke to, including J. H. Jenkins, president of a property owners' committee, that the city should take the $300 loss, representing the difference in interest rates from March 17, 1923 to March 17, 1924, rather than interpose a serious barrier to operations in the not far distant future.

"Those streets will be paved soon the property owners have told me that should the present board of control step out of office they would urge immediate procedure, but not while the present control members remain will they permit the project to go forward," according to Lehmkuhle.

SAYS IT'S 'UNFAIR'
Lehmkuhle says the resolution introduced by council is "unfair." It places the final burden on the property owners and makes them depart from the stand they have assumed from the time negotiations were reopened in January. Under the councilmanic action, they will be unable to maintain their stand that the improvement should not go forward until 1924, Lehmkuhle said, because if they adopt one course it will probably mean suspension for three years, and if they take the other course, it will mean starting of the work, which is against their wishes.

"Use of a connecting link between the end of the newly-improved Harding Highway and Main-st as a 'blind' by council in stalling for time is the 'bunk,'" says Lehmkuhle.

Council has seemed reluctant to proceed with Pierce-st because county commissioners would then consider it as being the proper link for the highway, inasmuch as it meets the highway at Suthoff-st two blocks east of Main-st, it is pointed out.

County commissioners informed him that they are ready to pay for improving Suthoff-st from the corporation line to Main-st, and the latter thoroughfare now looms as the unimproved connecting link between the end of the highway and the outlet into Delphos, Lehmkuhle declared.

SEE SOLUTION OF PARKING LACK

Board of Commerce Proposes to Utilize Vacant Ground

Lima's auto parking difficulties will be at an end, provided the solution which is to be attempted this week by the Board of Commerce is carried to a successful conclusion.

Every motorist has long known that it is almost impossible to find a place to park in the Lima business district during the afternoon and it is to remedy this that R. E. Ashley, of the Board of Commerce, is planning to make a survey of the available vacant spaces in the business district, which might be used for parking purposes.

Several vacant spaces back of office buildings are already known to the Board of Commerce and it is thought that the survey which will be made early the coming week will bring others to light. It is also believed that these sites will be found evenly distributed in all parts of the business district.

Should the survey show a sufficient number of sites, it is the intention of Ashley to recommend to the executive committee that arrangements be made to put the sites in shape for parking cars.

This would take a considerable number of autos off the streets and would leave plenty of room for transients and for farmers to park their cars, when they come to Lima on business.

Owners of several tracts, who have been approached on the subject, seem willing to cooperate with the Board of Commerce and it is likely that the sites will be donated to the Board, provided the civic organization makes arrangements to keep the sites in a slightly condition, it is stated.

STOCKS CLIMB TO HIGH LEVELS

Strength Of Market Shown In Weekly Review

SITUATION ABROAD IGNORED

Trading Based On Healthy Domestic Conditions

NEW YORK.—(United Press).—The stock market this week reached the highest levels it has seen since last October when the bull market of the late summer and fall reached its height.

Meanwhile commodity markets were firm and the sugar market staged two days of wild trading. Stock trades apparently have decided to take their cue from the healthy domestic business situation and to disregard developments abroad until there is something more definite to hang on than the present deadlock.

Steels, copper, sugar and oil stocks, were prominent among the industrials. The rail stocks in expectation of excellent January earnings statements from the roads and with the support of record car loadings continued their gradual climb.

STEEL BUSINESS

The last unfilled tonnage statement of United States Steel led to the conclusion and good business awaited all steel companies and the independent steel gave exhibitions of strength during the succession of million share days. United States Steel has not advanced in proportion and there are rumors that it is being saved for a demonstration later on.

Successful advance in crude oils gave strength to the petroleum issues based on the big board and on the curb. Standards and independents, particularly those with large stocks of crude stored during the period of low prices benefited. On the last day of the week, steeling reached a new record high since the spring of 1919 when the British government withdrew the peg.

PRODUCE REVIEW

(By Swift & Co.) Comparing the earnings of branches of national produce companies with the Census shows that the poultry industry has advanced in third place within the last decade. Today, only the corn and the dairy are ahead of the poultry. The poultry is a producer of national wealth. Below the hen on the list are petroleum, wheat, cotton, auto parts, coal, potatoes, oats, copper and gold, in that order.

Until recently poultry raising has been a hobby or sideline for farmers, but it is now being taken up by the men who are the backbone of the nation's industry. Poultry raising is compared with the number who pay attention to raising corn or cattle or products of the United States were worth $1,047,325,170—more than twice as much as all the gold mined, three times as much as all the gold produced, and nearly as much as all the oil and the petroleum which came from the wells, or all the wheat grown on our farms.

A much lighter volume of domestic poultry reached the four large consuming markets, Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia, during the week, resulting in somewhat higher prices. The United States Department of Agriculture reports stocks of poultry in the freezer as of February 1, 1923, 92,922,000 lbs. 1922, 104,350,000 lbs. 1921, 110,775,000 lbs.

As receipts of domestic poultry are not large enough to take care of current needs, some stock is being drawn from storage to make up the deficiency. While the amount of poultry in storage is larger than last year, consumption is heavier, because the wholesale price is somewhat lower than it was this last year.

Because of the larger stocks, moderate prices will, no doubt, prevail, preventing an unusual advance in paying prices for live stock, which until present stocks are greatly reduced. Cream deliveries have been much lighter during the last ten days, due to the severe storms which overcast the producing sections. The market prices reflected these conditions with advanced quotations in the consuming centers. Higher prices are generally being paid for butterfat through producing sections.

The egg market, always sensitive to sudden, widespread changes in temperature, was quickly affected by the severe storms of the week. The market quotations advancing with each new report of the storms' intensity. With the passing of the cold wave, prices may be expected to decline rapidly to their former levels and mild, dry weather through the producing territory will probably result in increased collections and further depress the market.

Eggs are now produced in a much larger area so that a wide-spread storm covering even many of the Central States will have only temporary effect on the markets, so late in February. Take New York for instance: eggs are reaching that market in abundance from California, Oregon, Washington, Texas and Kansas with smaller quotas from the Central States, so New York City is not dependent on its supply from the Mississippi Valley as in years past.

Only a Dancer's Husband!

Kyra, the Model, in a Pose Which Clearly Explains Why No Artist Ever Changes a Line or Curve of Her Figure.

But When He DID Talk, He Wrecked Her Oriental Origin and Some Other Romantic Illusions

THE world knew him only as "Kyra's husband," for, like many another satellite to a fixed star, Wilbert McKenzie's own personality was almost wholly hidden by the blazing fame of the woman he married.

And then, when the crash came, positions changed. The flying flicker of the satellite's love revealed the star—not as a big, bold, Oriental, but as an everyday American, not as the mystery dancer from the East, but as a cabaret queen from the Middle West; not as "Kyra the beautiful," but as little Hortense McDonald, of Kansas City and Chicago!

A Chicago law court, where Kyra recently filed suit for divorce and her husband countered with his amazing series of charges—including the declaration that she had left him for her handsome dancing partner—is the scene of the blowup of their romance.

Until the divorce suit and McKenzie's cross-bill were made public, the marriage of the dancer and the American business man had been regarded as an ideal affair. It was said McKenzie fell in love with Kyra when he saw a bronze statue for which she had posed, and that he haunted the studios until he learned the name of the model, met her, wooed her, and conquered her heart.

Thereafter he drifted slowly but surely into his role of "Kyra's husband," for though he himself is business manager for D. W. Griffith, the movie celebrity, and though he is a capable and forceful figure in his own world, Kyra was a "star" and—he wasn't.

New York, where Kyra was startling the art world with her "perfect figure," seemed to know very little about this new and enchanting beauty. She piqued interest—and mystified at the same time. A legend grew up about her. Some said she was Arabie, others Persian; one story had it that she was the daughter of an Afghan chief. Kyra herself smiled tantalizingly and refused to affirm or deny these tales.

Wilbert McKenzie was as mum as his wife. In fact, few people expected him to be anything else. A nice chap, perhaps, but—"only a husband!"

And that's what he was until Kyra filed her divorce bill in Chicago. This was shock number one to her artistic and theatrical friends, who had frequently heard her say, "I shall always keep my husband's love and he mine!"

Kyra charged that McKenzie drank. She said he began drinking before the honeymoon was over and kept on drinking all through the eight years of their wedded life. She said he would abuse her when he was drinking and call her objectionable names. Even after they separated, asserted Kyra, McKenzie continued to harass her and would write her threatening letters.

The high point of her suit was her declaration that McKenzie had $6,000 in notes and other securities belonging to her. She asked the court to enjoin McKenzie from disposing of this property, and to give her a divorce and sufficient alimony to get along in the world.

There is no record of what McKenzie said when his eyes first lit upon the charges that he, "only a dancer's husband," had made their married life a round of drinking and quarrels and abuse, and ended it by collaring Kyra's money.

A Veiled Pose of Kyra Revealing the Classic Symmetry of Her Figure.

But it is probable that Mr. McKenzie was furious. It is believable that he decided to keep mum no longer; that he resolved, in answering his wife's suit, to "tell the world" how a satellite can reveal a star. Thus came shock number two to the friends of the couple.

Mr. McKenzie began his answer to the divorce suit by admitting that he married "the dancer known as Kyra" on July 13, 1914, and that they lived together until September 15, 1922. Thus far his admissions tallied with Kyra's charges. But then came a surprise.

Kyra, declared McKenzie, was really Hortense C. McDonald, originally of Kansas City and then a favorite dancer in the cheaper class of Chicago cabarets and motion picture houses. She isn't an Oriental at all, said McKenzie, but an American, and he asserted that when he married her she was making only $15 a week.

"Why, I made her!" exclaimed McKenzie in effect, as he went on to reveal how the "Kyra legend" was built up. The dancer's husband claimed that he invented her stage name for her, planned the "mystery of Kyra" as part of a well thought out publicity programme, and that his canny mind was largely responsible for the increase of Kyra's earnings from $15 a week to $450.

"By means of their joint efforts in carrying out the co-partnership arrangement thus entered into," read McKenzie's answer, "they jointly acquired and saved money and property to the extent of $20,000 invested in diamonds, jewels and securities, practically all of which was kept in their joint names in a safety deposit box in the city of New York, the same being their joint earnings and profits and each being legally entitled to one-half thereof."

Furthermore, declared McKenzie, instead of his having Kyra's $6,000, she had taken their joint earnings and spent them on another man. He described this person as "one Raffaelli, a performer, also known as Alfred J. Symington," and he charged that Kyra was infatuated with him.

According to McKenzie's cross-bill, Kyra and Symington fell in love while they were touring the country with a theatrical company, and after they returned to New York continued to be madly in love with one another. He said Kyra admitted it to him, declaring that, after all, he was "only a husband!"

Kyra used to write Symington some very purple poetry, said McKenzie. He didn't know whether she made it up or got it out of a book, but here, he declared, was a sample. He was going to offer this exhibit in court: "I pray the prayers the Easterners do, May the peace of Allah abide with you—Wherever you stay, wherever you go, May the beautiful palms of Allah grow, Through the days of labor and nights of rest, May the love of sweet Allah make you blest."

So I touch my heart as the Easterners do, May the peace of Allah abide with you," McKenzie said he found this verse penciled on the back of one of her photographs which Kyra, he claimed, had given Symington.

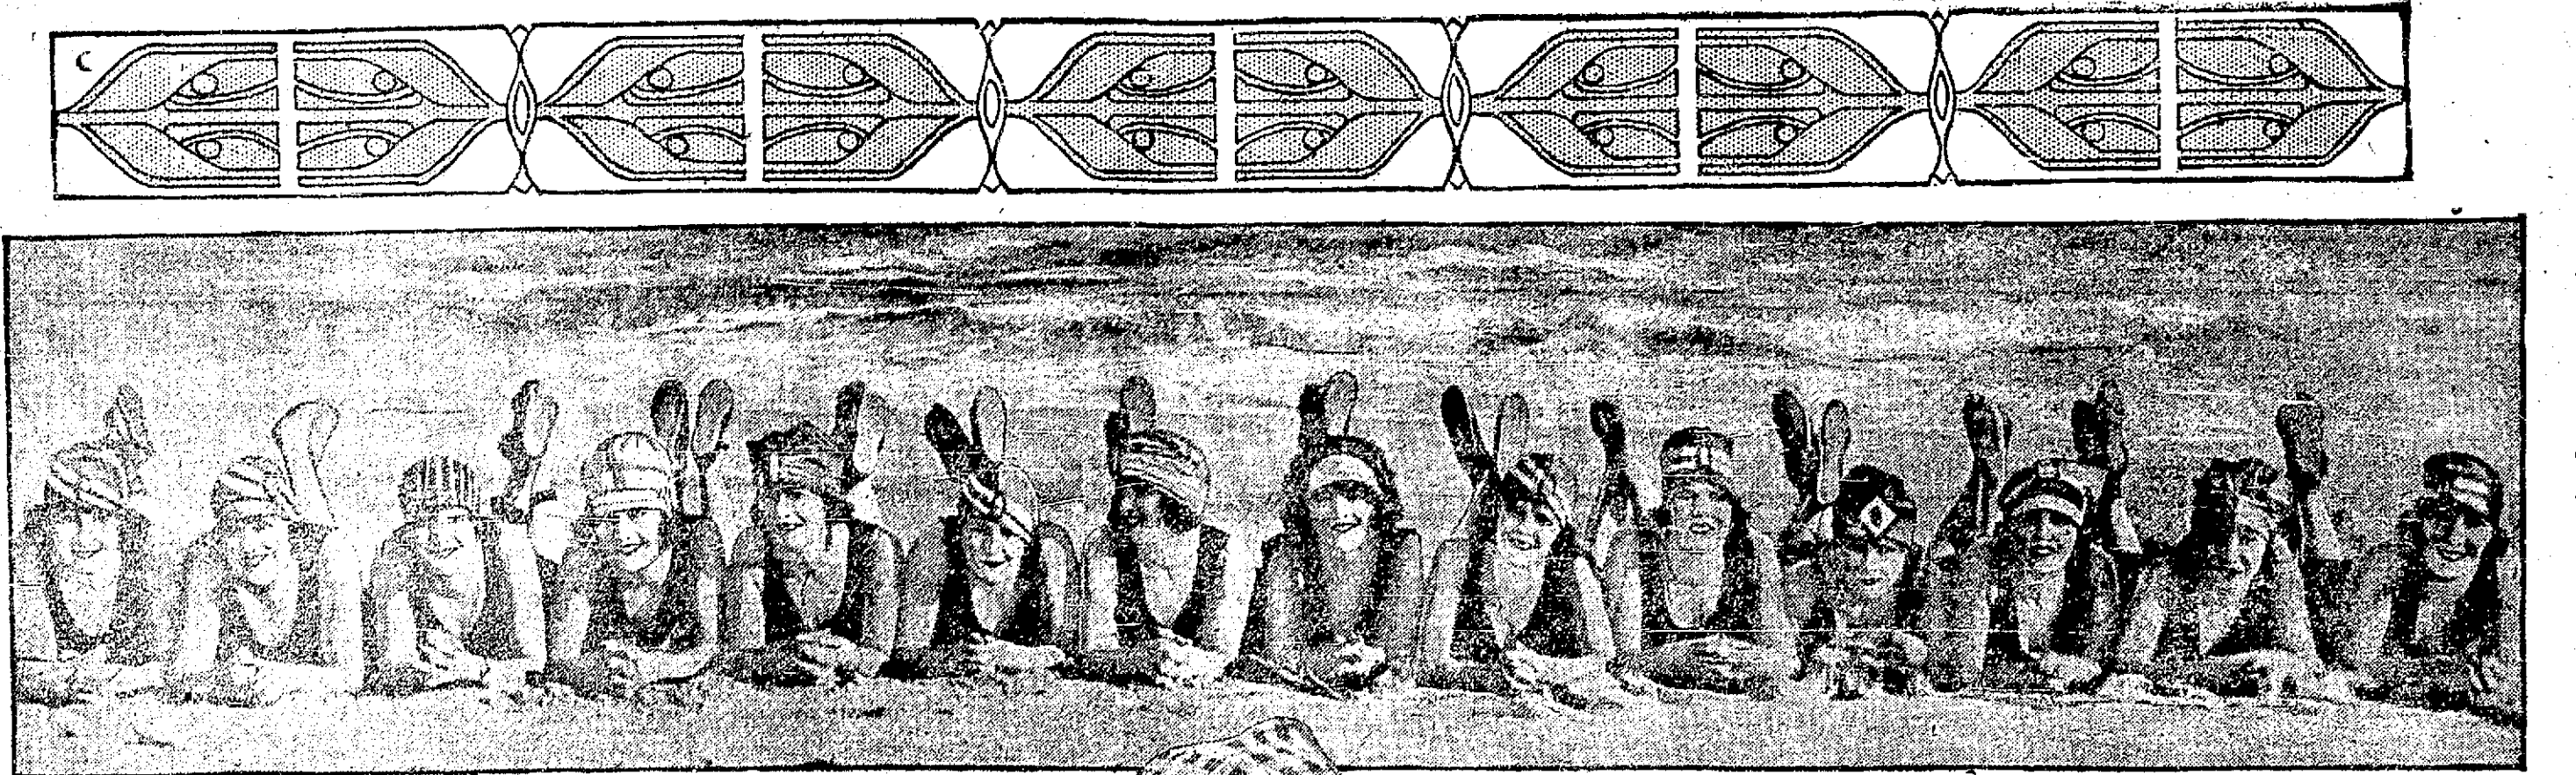

Bohemian circles in which Kyra and her husband had moved before their break weren't nearly as startled by the poetry as they were by McKenzie's other little exhibits. Allah and palm trees fitted right in with the personality of the Kyra they had known. But Kansas City! Chicago cabarets! Hortense McDonald! Really, this was incongruous with their idea of "the lovely Persian."

And to have the story come from Wilbert McKenzie, from "Kyra's husband"—well, what do you know about that!

Fads a la Mode at Palm Beach

PALM BEACH
GINGHAM bathing suits, simple sun hats and plain white dresses that could be duplicated anywhere for ninety-eight cents a yard, are among the modes of the moment at the Winter playground of America's Four Hundred. And feminine cigarette smokers puff their fags right on the beach.

Society, always extreme, has reacted from last year's swank to this year's simplicity. Palm Beach, famous for its exotic fads, this season has gone in for the old-fashioned touch in what it wears while it continues to be prankier than ever in what it does. A Maude Muller hat and an Egyptian cigarette go right together.

A stroll along the sea front these golden February mornings, when the most exclusive stretch of sand on earth swarms with more millionaires than there are palms along the Jungle Trail, reminds the observer of nothing so much as the informality of an old swimming hole.

There, giggling and gossiping under their gaudy sunshades, is a quartet representing four of America's great fortunes. You would think that women whose word could make or break the most ambitious social climber would dress and act the part even in a chatting bee on the beach.

But Mrs. Robert P. Breeze, Mrs. Raymond T. Baker (the former Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt), Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell and Mrs. Le Grand Griswold appear anything but "possey."

Their frocks are ordinary crepe de

Smoking on the Beach, 98-Cent Suits and Jay Hats Are the New Florida Fashions of Wealthy Women

chino. Their hats are drooping peanut straw, trimmed with a few unpretentious field flowers. Their shoes are not the high-heeled affairs which many matrons insisted on donning even for a sand stroll last year. They are sensible, flat-soled walking shoes. Practically the only "radical" feature about the group is the "wide open" use of cigarettes.

And there you have the season's atmosphere of Palm Beach at a glance, symbolized in straw hats and cigarettes. The one represents the "back-to-nature" attitude society is assuming more and more at Palm Beach. The other shows that society, in some directions, is more "advanced" than ever.

Never have Palm Beach dress styles been more informal than they are this year. Mrs. Leonard Thomas, considered one of the most modish women in New York, appeared on the beach the other morning in an accordion-pleated crepe de chine skirt, a blouse of ordinary printed silk and a knockabout white felt hat. She might

Miss Madeleine Hubbard Young, of Chicago, a belle of the season, takes tea at the Everglades Club in a costume any flapper might emulate. Her ratine frock might have cost all of fifty cents a yard; her brown curls are covered by just such a felt hat as all flappers wear.

Another informal touch is the scarf. It traces its origin back to cowboy days, when the rangers always rode with gay bandanna handkerchief knotted about their necks. The scarves worn by the beauties of Palm Beach are a bit more expensive than bandannas. They range from printed silk to the most beautifully dyed batiks. But they serve a practical purpose, keeping the blistering sun from delicate necks and shoulders.

Practical, in fact, is a new word that looms big in the Palm Beach vocabulary this Winter. It is the word that has dictated not only the scarves and the gingham, but nearly all of the Four Hundred's playtime garb.

Nor is the word to be confused with economy. Money flows as freely here as the Gulf Stream does. There is just as much gambling as ever at Bradley's. There are just as many expensive yachting parties. There is just as much extravagant fun in the cottage life which has so largely succeeded the big hotel functions.

Mrs. Leonard Thomas, at Right, Now Advocates Plain Blouses and Skirts and Knockabout Hats.

If Beauty bathes in gingham in the morning, she is likely to emerge in the Coconut Grove at twilight in a $2,000 gown and tons of pearls and emeralds.

But society does seem to be weary of posing when it goes a-pleasuring. Along with "practical" there's another characteristic word—"natural." Society "acts naturally" when it wears what it pleases.

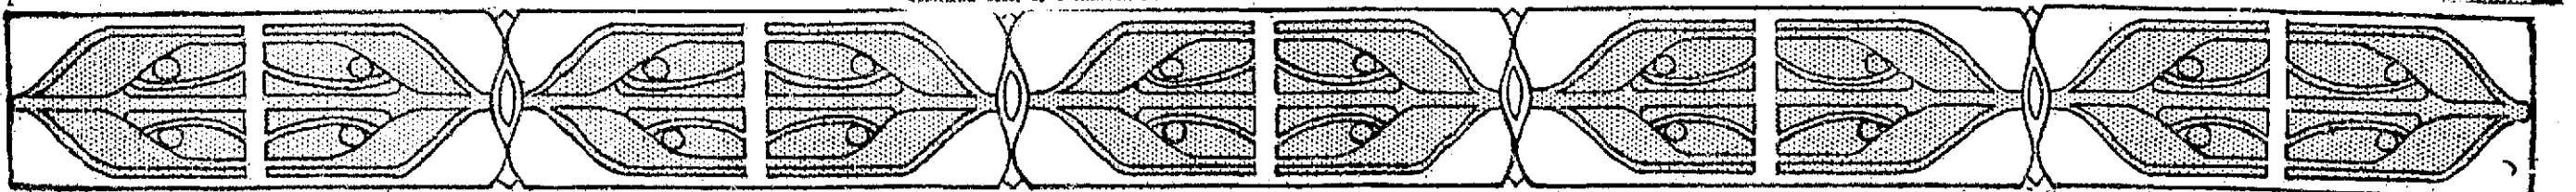

In brief, "Do as you will" is the Palm Beach law, whether you will to be daring or will to be simple. The ocean is the old swimming hole. The Breakers and the Royal Poinciana, after all, are only houses on its banks. So the clubman "chucks his coat" like any little boy; the dowager romps in a white dress, like any little girl; and society says:

"Let's throw away the mask! We're here to have a good time!"

Harnessing the Sacred River Jordan for $5,000,000

than sufficient will be available for all power requirements.

In addition, there is another river, the Yarmuk, which supplies into the Jordan a short distance below the Sea of Galilee, and still another, the Jabbok, joining the Jordan about halfway to the Dead Sea, so that the Jordan itself will not dry up.

The Holy Land, to-day is almost like a desert, after its centuries of Turkish control. Life here is almost as primitive as it was nineteen hundred and twenty-three years ago. It took an era of war to restore Palestine to occidental control; now, with an era of peace, Palestine may be changed from a land of sacred story only to a land of prosperity as well.

A Reproduction from Gustave Dore's Famous Engraving of the Baptism of Jesus in River Jordan.

Jerusalem As It Is To-day, from a Photograph Taken from the Hill Overlooking the Church of St. Anne.

THE sacred River Jordan, famous in Biblical history from the days of Joshua to the time of Christ, is to be harnessed by science to irrigate, heat, light and industrialize the Holy Land.

The British Government, which holds a mandatory over Palestine, has granted concessions to a company organized to carry out the project at a cost of $5,000,000, and next month the first construction gang will pitch camp near the spot where St. John baptized Jesus.

Within five years the company expects to throw a dam across the Jordan at its outlet from the Sea of Galilee and to parallel the river with canals, laterals and ditches which will water the Plains of Sharon and other barren lands familiar to every Bible reader.

Nor is this all. After the initial expense of $5,000,000, the company contemplates additional financing of from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000 through which electric power will be supplied to docks, wharves, railways, plantations, mills, factories, workshops, laboratories and every building and home from Dan to Beersheba.

Strange as it may seem, this generation may see Jerusalem, Jericho, Damascus and other ancient cities with street cars, "White Ways," great industrial plants, telephones, radio concerts, steam heat in the brief but bitter Mediterranean Winter, artificial ice and electric fans in Summer, and all the other modern inventions which hydraulic exploitation brings.

And this from the river the Israelites under Joshua crossed dry-shod with the Ark of the Covenant; the river where Naaman bathed seven times to cure his leprosy; the river where John stooped to lave his Lord as the dove fluttered above their heads; the river whose reputed sacred waters have been bottled and sold for fabulous prices for centuries in every part of the world!

The development of Palestine has been discussed for many years. But not until Pinhas Rutenberg, a practical civil engineer, spent months of study in the Holy Land, reported that the thing could be executed as a paying proposition, secured the assistance of the Baron Edmond de Rothschild and other financiers, obtained Zionist approval and then helped to organize the company that got government concessions, was anything definite done.

Now there is already an electric power station under construction at Jaffa on the Palestine shore of the Mediterranean, two other stations are planned at Haifa and Jerusalem, and men and materials are being assembled for the first great step of the project—harnessing the Jordan.

What Mr. Rutenberg proposes to do can be told very simply. The River Jordan, most important stream in Palestine, rises in the mountains of Lebanon and runs only thirteen miles until it reaches the Sea of Galilee, also known as Lake Gennesaret and Lake Tiberias. Leaving the Sea of Galilee, it winds southward until it empties into the Dead Sea.

Its main course, from Galilee to the Dead Sea, is only sixty-five miles as the crow flies. But the Jordan's channel is so winding and tortuous that it describes altogether a route of two hundred miles between the two seas. Where the Jordan leaves the Sea of Galilee is a falls.

Engineers will build a great dam at this point like the Roosevelt Dam in Arizona. This will make the Sea of Galilee, already a great natural reservoir, an almost unlimited source for irrigation and electrical power.

A View Showing How the Dam Will Look During the Construction Period When Picturesque Laborers Will Work Side by Side With Modern Mechanics and Motor Trucks.

From above the Sea of Galilee two canals will be cut paralleling the course of the Jordan. A third canal may be dug in another direction to reach the Plains of Sharon. From these canals will branch out laterals and irrigation ditches touching the entire countryside. It is believed that hundreds of thousands of acres, now arid, can thus be made to bear rich harvests. Already there are in Palestine crudely fashioned water-works, many of them dating back to the reign of David, which can be utilized as the canals are built.

Two power houses will be built on the Jordan, one near the Galilee dam and another farther down the river. The water in the Sea of Galilee can be so conserved in the wet season for use in the dry season that it is believed more mission among the scorpion eaters of Algeria. Now she is said to be planning a third romantic expedition.

In brief, big game hunters to-day seem made of the same stuff as Samson, who strangled a lion with his bare hands, but was helpless before Delilah, while the big game huntresses are no more fortunate than their patron goddess, Diana, for whom one suitor died and another was changed into a stag.

"Maybe she'll have better luck hunting tigers than she did hunting heart happiness," society is saying since the smashup of the Manners-Rainey romance and Mrs. Manners' announcement that she will sail for India.

"I refuse to discuss the broken engagement at all," Mrs. Manners herself said, tremulously, when a reporter called on her at her suite at the Plaza Hotel in New York.

She was then in the midst of packing all the pretty hats and gowns she wore when she and Mr. Rainey were extensively feted in New York and Newport, and getting out her field and camping togs for her Indian trip.

"I met Mr. Rainey several years ago at Navisha, Africa," was all Mrs. Manners would say. "That's two days' journey from Nairobi. We were both there hunting. We became good friends and, eventually, engaged. Now I'm not going to marry him, and that's all I'll tell you."

"Lion-hunting in Africa," added Mrs. Manners, "is more fun than tea-drinking at the Plaza. You can quote me on that if you want to."

Another modern Diana who echoes Mrs. Manners' sentiments in this last respect is Miss Martha Miller, who is Carl Akeley's secretary at the American Museum of Natural History and who accompanied him on his last African expedition, along with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley, of Chicago, and their six-year-old daughter, Alice.

Miss Miller stood steadily in an African jungle at night and killed a lion she could distinguish only by the glare of its eyes. But, when she was asked to address the meeting of a men's club in New Jersey after her return, she was so terrified, in fact, that she fainted on the platform.

"I never was so frightened in my life!" declared Miss Miller. "Give me the jungle every time!"

Until Mr. Akeley's last trip to Africa for the special purpose of shooting gorillas to make a new group for the Museum, he was always accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Della Akeley.

She used to tramp shoulder to shoulder with him through miles of fever-ridden swamp and leagues of thick jungle underbrush. She carried an express gun as he did, and once she slipped away from the rest of the party because she wanted to kill an elephant.

She got the elephant, too. Armed with two rifles loaded with the heaviest charge known, she crept within a hundred yards of a herd splashing and feeding about a big pool. Drawing a bead on the patriarch of the herd, Akeley brought him down with a shot fair between the heavy ivory tusks, each longer than the height of a full-grown man. It is said she is the first woman ever to kill an elephant.

Mr. and Mrs. Akeley were looked upon by their friends as the "ideal couple." Her interest in his life-work of taxidermy, sculpture and big game hunting was commented as an example to all wives.

But, not long after their return from another plunge into darkest Africa, they separated. Mr. Akeley said that his wife deserted him; later he sued for divorce.

Mrs. Rosita Forbes, now Mrs. Col. McGrath, another of the big game hunters to be divorced, declared after her unhappy first marriage that love should never enter her life again. Instead, she would find happiness in world wandering.

Accordingly, she started on a journey to Kufra, stronghold of the fanatical Senussi sect of Arabian tribesmen in the heart of the Sahara Desert.

Leaving Benghazi, on the Mediterranean coast, she rode camelback for six hundred miles across arid sands. For three days she was without water and went through all the tortures of a castaway on a desert island.

She finally left the Egyptian frontier behind her and penetrated the Libyan desert until she reached the City of the Sacred Oasis, where only one European—an explorer forty years ago—had ever been before her. Her adventures en route included the arrest of the whole party and imprisonment in the Taj prison and a flight from hostile tribesmen whom Mrs. Forbes escaped only by disguising herself as a boy.

On her return to England Mrs. Forbes was received by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace and was made much of by London society. To her friends she admitted that her Libyan experience has given her enough thrills to last for some time. They were not surprised when, soon afterward, she married a well known army officer, Colonel McGrath.

Perhaps Mrs. Forbes, in her second marriage, will flout the love jinx that seems to hover over explorers and big game hunters. But, until she does, readers of their adventures in the open and their misadventures in domesticity, are apt to paraphrase the old saw: "Lucky in sport, unlucky in love!"

President Harding Fears 1924—Political Gossip

(By J. W. FISHER)

Political scribblers in Washington are chuckling over the manner in which Congressman John L. Cable's measure for the establishing of a federal court in Lima came near being talked to death.

They are also relating in a breezy manner how the "teeth" were taken out of it finally, so that it really stands, the measure means little or nothing, so far as affording a permanent court here or even affording the possibility of being used as a dummy to get into Uncle Sam's strong box for the price of a new federal building here.

Congressman John had the aid of United States Senator Francis B. Willis in the task of engineering the Lima measure thru the upper house. It cannot be said in honesty that Willis backed the job. He did not. But others so fused the thing up for him that Senator Willis perceived copiously in a perfectly natural manner. Congressman John, standing on the sidelines, probably cursed softly as he saw the chance for the appointment of a Lima attorney to a federal judgeship going to sea.

Cable's measure is a nicely marching tune thru the lower house of Congress, not this Waterloo in the Senate and as the matter now stands, whether United States court will ever be held in this city, under the terms of the Cable measure, depends upon the plea of a federal judge here, and whether or not they will be held, and then only in September of each year.

Getting the amended measure thru the Senate was like pulling teeth. In the final vote it had a mighty close call. It was then that Willis perceived, mopping his brow furiously, while Cable probably wasn't committing to memory a Sunday school lesson. Willis was required to twist the English language into 17 varieties of positions to make it go under any circumstances.

The Lima Congressman may have felt he had Andrew Kille and West's objections to the measure, but in the last analysis he found they were holding the best hand. The House bill was stripped of about everything save the enacting clause by the opposing Senators. They picked it up as clean as a buzzard would pick a chicken.

Congressman Cable conceded everything the present federal jurists asked for. He consented that the bill be so amended that it provides for the holding of court in Lima only once a year, beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September, and then only, "if, in the opinion of the court, the public convenience so requires." It is easy to see that there isn't a lot of prospect for Judge Killis occupying the bench here at any time, since he is authorized for the lifetime of the business originating in his district occupies very little of his time, sitting in Toledo.

Since the Senate—first the judges of those calculating law-makers—has taken all the kick out of our federal court prospects, there is little or no use pinning for a new federal building on the strength of that enactment. In fact, before the measure could be passed in an amended-to-death state, Senator Willis was forced to declare there was no intention of using it as a club for a new building appropriation.

Senator William H. King, of Utah, nailed Senator Willis to the cross—politically speaking—on this phase of the question, when he said, with a wicked grin, "I am interested in knowing whether this is merely for the purpose of getting the head of the camel into the tent and using it for the purpose of getting a large appropriation for a federal building in Lima."

"I assure the Senator that it is not the object and it will not be the result," Senator Willis interrupted. Ignoring the interruption, Senator King continued, "Upon the theory that 'We have a court, now we must have a suitable building to house it.' The Senator from Ohio then assures the government and the august tribunal that there will be no appropriation asked for to build a public building there to house the court?"

"I assure the Senator there will be no request flowing from this," promised Senator Willis.

Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, started the trouble after Senator Willis had explained that holding court in Lima would be optional with the judge and that "think it is likely that court will not be held there very often."

"If that is the case," the penetrating Arkansas persisted, "why should Congress pass the bill? If it is not expected court will be held in this place, why not wait until there is an actual necessity for providing for a term of court at Lima?"

Wiping his perspiring brow, Senator Willis waited up to bat with this answer:

"Court will be held there, but under the terms of the bill as it originally stood, it was made mandatory that they should hold two terms of court there. The judge advised me by wire that there may be only one term and that it be left to the discretion of the court he would have no objection and he thinks it would be a wise measure."

The Arkansas, further harrying the Ohio Senator, countered: "The Senator from Ohio also said that while the present judges are on the bench it is not anticipated court will be held there very often."

More mopping of the perspiring brow of Senator Willis, then this: "I think that is true, because there will not be a great amount of litigation, but they do not object to it as it now stands."

Thus the bill was passed and in its passage Lima receives the assurance that sometime—maybe—it happens and the judge is willing, a federal court may possibly sit in our midst.

Congressman Cable has brought home the bacon, but under the circumstances, Washington thinks it is merely a rind. Lima boosters would like to speak those responsible for gumming up our Congressman's federal court producing machinery which was started off so brightly.

Simultaneous with the emphatic pronouncement made by Congressman Cable and Senator Willis of Indiana, that President Harding can't be denied a second nomination, there came out of the middle west an equally emphatic statement, based on concrete facts, that the President is facing a bitter fight in 1924.

This party is bent asunder on the question of shoving him out in front again. In fact, the situation is such that Democratic leaders see evidence of assured success for any strong man that party may name. You see, the Democrats are in for a fierce drubbing. The farming sections are expected to witness the greatest drive against the present incumbent of the high and mighty place of power.

Getting the facts reduced to figures brings dismay in the Republican camp and an equal measure of jubilation to the Democratic hosts. If the Democrats can succeed in holding three or four of the normally Republican states which went Democratic in 1922, it will be easy for them to carry back into power.

Starting with the Solid South, these states alone, not counting West Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland, all three of which are likely to go overwhelmingly against the administration, will furnish 154 electoral votes. There are 531 votes in the electoral college. Making 276 necessary to a choice. Starting with 154 votes sure, the Democrats would need only 112 additional votes in the college to elect their candidate.

It is believed that New York and New Jersey are in the Democratic column to stay, at least until after the 1924 election and that they will contribute more than half of the 112 votes needed to turn the trick. With the Solid South, these two states would give 213 electoral votes. That would leave only 53 more to be bagged. Now, analyze the middle-west. How about other "pivot" states?

The Democrats have their eyes focused on Minnesota. For the first time since the Civil war the Republicans were given a drubbing in that commonwealth last year, on national issues. So, the Gopher state may do it again, particularly if Harding should be the Republican candidate. It is apparently very much in the air that the state will go anti-Harding. In 1919, when California kicked out of the traces, Wilson was elected without Minnesota.

There is good reason to believe that North and South Dakota, Washington, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia will be safely Democratic. These states with New York, New Jersey and the South would give the Democrats 271 electoral votes, or live more than necessary.

As the cards are now running, it is indicated the Democrats will have little trouble in piling up 213 electoral votes in these states: New York, 45; Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 12; Florida, 12; Georgia, 12; Louisiana, 12; Michigan, 12; Mississippi, 12; North Carolina, 12; New Jersey, 14; Oklahoma, 12; South Carolina, 12; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20; Virginia, 12; Total, 213.

Add to this Minnesota, 12; North Dakota, 5; West Virginia, 5; Kentucky, 5; Washington, 5; South Dakota, 5; Maryland, 5; a total of 54 would make the electoral vote for the Democratic candidate to 271, more than sufficient to win.

The tabulation gives Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois to the Republicans and along with them 22 other states, in all of which, possibly outside of Pennsylvania, the Democrats are certain to put up a hard fight. Thus, the Republicans could carry Arizona, 3; Colorado, 6; California, 13; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Idaho, 4; Indiana, 13; Iowa, 12; Kansas, 10; Massachusetts, 12; Montana, 4; Maine, 6; Michigan, 12; Nebraska, 5; New Hampshire, 4; Nevada, 3; New Mexico, 3; Oregon, 5; Ohio, 24; Pennsylvania, 38; Rhode Island, 5; Utah, 4; Vermont, 4; Wisconsin, 12; Wyoming, 3—and still lose, as they total but 269.

It's all settled now. President Harding is to be accorded a re-nomination. There's no longer any doubt about it. Congressman Simmons, D. Rep., United States Senator-elect, says the old world was on nobody would dare dispute anything Simmons says.

Why, it's so certain that even if Warren wished to decline the honor, a party G. O. P. would force it upon him. He just "dashin'" refuse. Such a thing is unthinkable! How could the old world wag on otherwise? The only excuse Uncle Simmons would be accepted by Warren's party would be that the state of his health would not permit it. And Simmons can't see Warren getting ill.

A fine lot of bunk has been going the round about the possibility of the President refusing to entertain the suggestion of a re-nomination. He's just about as likely to reject it as a pig to reject the suggestion of a re-nomination. He's just about as likely to reject it as a pig to reject the suggestion of a re-nomination.

However, the opposition to it is strong, backed by the administration forces. Senator Johnson seems to be determined to win a G. O. P. Presidential nomination in some manner and he doesn't care to wait until Harding has had a second term, or at least until he has tried for a return and is defeated. In either event, Johnson would have to wait five or six years and as he is no longer young, the prospect doesn't suit him.

If all the amendments proposed by the General assembly are carried thru, the Ohio constitution will look like a crazy quilt or a target shot full of holes.

Fourteen joint resolutions have been presented so far during the present session, proposing changes in the constitution. They are: To provide for classification for taxation of vehicles which use the highways; repeal the constitutional amendment which prohibits use of the initiative and referendum to pass laws authorizing classification of the single tax; require voters to pass literacy test, able to read and write English; to strike the words "white male" from the section defining qualifications of voters; authorize municipalities to assess abutting, adjacent or other property in a district benefited by a public improvement.

The next would extend the term of Governor to four years, as well as the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer and Attorney General; exempt from taxation real property consisting of a farm occupied by a taxpayer, or a farm occupied as a home by a taxpayer, to an amount not to exceed $3000; recall of elective state executive officers and legislators; provide a state poll tax, for school purposes; abolish general property tax; recall of judges; abolish state Senate and have a one-body Legislature; limit legislative session to 60 days and prohibit introduction of new bills after first 30 days; away with jury trials in civil cases involving less than $1000.

Another is said to be in course of preparation intended to do away with primary nomination for state and district offices, while retaining it for municipal, township and county officials.

Fortunately, proposed changes to the constitution must be ratified by the electors. Otherwise the Legislature could—and probably would—shoot the document to hell of holes that its original makers would be unable to recognize in the "remains," "chee-ild."

Ministers usually speak the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth when their souls are poured out in prayer. Also, sermons that scorch and sear usually bring no word of retaliation from those who are hard hit.

It remained for the Colorado Legislature to adopt a "resolution of censure," expressing displeasure and disagreement with the sentiment of an open prayer delivered by Chaplain J. B. Rader.

"Our courts are corrupt," said the chaplain. "God has been expelled from our churches; the pulpits are filled with essayists; our boys and our girls are going to the dogs; our laboring men are going to work with empty pails, while our farmers starve and the middle men was fat on exorbitant prices."

The chaplain began with the exclamation, "Oh, Lord; how long is this condition to endure?" and ended with the supplication that the deity guide the lawmakers to the end that "peace may be over come and justice done among men."

When the Ohio Senate took its first step to kill the minimum wage act and to name an investigating committee, it made a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor in 1924.

Senator J. P. Burke, of Lorain, who headed the fighting force on the G. O. P. side for the restoration of referendum rights of the public, is said to be considering entrance into the Governorship contest. Two years ago the fight for legislation for women and minor workers was directed by Miss Rose Moriarty. She accepted an appointment from Governor Davis to the state industrial commission. Senator George U. Donahy of Cuyahoga, charged that she was more interested in Republican political affairs and an appointment than in the cause of minimum wage.

Burke appears to be a fighter of the new-syde type. He and his associates plan to pursue a course that will prevent a repetition of the Rose Moriarty situation, making it impossible for a realization of personal political advantage by any aspirant.

out-of-town hands earned $212,000 during the last three months. "Inactive" deposits are those made for certain definite periods, not subject to immediate withdrawal—funds which will not be needed by the state for a long time.

Columbus banks carry the "active" deposits—money which can be withdrawn on check for the payment of current bills. Considering all this, what a lot of graft there must have been in the "good old days," when a state treasurer put state funds into favored banks and kept the interest for himself, in addition to the salary paid him.

Perhaps the treasurer and the bank divided the loot. It was easy picking and the public didn't know anything about it. But that's stopped now. The state gets the interest.

Governor Donahy is doing well. In fact, so well that even Republican newspapers are praising his position on many things of importance. He seeks to lower taxes by abolishing the state tax commission, do away with all direct state taxes, repeal all tax limitation and debt limitation laws, and permit each taxing district to vote its own taxes and its bonded indebtedness as high or as low as it pleases.

Governor Donahy is clearing away "dead timber," or unnecessary departments in state government which cost large sums of money.

Dancing obediently when the Harding organization jerked the string, the Clark-Republican club, at Springfield, adopted a resolution demanding that the state Legislature present for a vote of the people a proposal to repeal the primary laws. Simply endeavoring to clear the way for Warren in 1924, without a contest for the Ohio delegates.

The United States Senate has approved an amendment to the federal constitution that ought to have concurrence in the House and give the people at large a chance at it.

It provides for the elimination of a session of an old Congress after the election and before the new Congress is seated. It would also move the Presidential inauguration up from March 4 to the third Monday in January.

Too much lame-duck voting on important measures after vox populi has spoken.

Ohio newspapers are back of a measure to be presented in the General Assembly, designed to speed up returns in elections. It will require that election judges and clerks remain on the job until the count is completed, the work to begin immediately after the closing of the polls. Under such a measure the people may know who has been elected without waiting a week or more.

VAL OF PARADISE

The girl, clinging to the trunk of the cottonwood tree that stood above Bluewater, while she tried to reach her heart to bravery and hope, essayed three times to answer that call. Then she shook herself together by a supreme effort.

"Yes, Belle dear," she said.

"Oh," said Belle, "what's the matter, Val?"

And Val answered, as she must, the words seemed to tear out of her stifling heart.

"Signal-fires," she said, "that say—the Rustler's out!"

"Great goodness!" said Belle. "Heaven—at last! And those clanking rides, of course, O. how I wish John were here! But Boyce will do the trick if it is possible. Let's hope it is."

The girl by the cottonwood looked at her mother with strained and piteous eyes. Then she dragged her body forward and took the reaching hand.

"I think I'll go to bed," said Belle. "Goodnight, dear."

Val leaned and kissed her. Listened dutifully to her steps returning into the house.

Then she, too, entered and groped her way, more blindly than Belle had ever done, into the far depths of her own south room.

And far away in the shadowed levels the Black Rustler himself picked his last great game. A mad delight was in his heart, the daring and the less courage that had marked him on the border rode high.

Like a wind whipping a prayer to fire, it whipped him to strong needs, to the fine point, to the long odds, to the joy of beating the ranchers by the width of a hair.

He rode a horse upon whose gallantry he could depend—the there was one other he had ridden had beneath him—and by his side rode his aid and lieutenant, companion of an hundred night-rides, a huge bulk of a man on a powerful, raw-boned horse.

It was not fat steers they took this night, neither anything that a man might need, but something to cut the loss with a lash of chagrin and rage—namely Black Princess, the fine young mare of whom the Flying Y had boasted much for this year's races. Gentle-hearted, tractable, the Princess ran between their running horses, making for the distant pass into the Blind Trail hills, and the rising note of their speed proved that there was something in her, that the boasts had had foundation.

From time to time the Black Rustler rose to his stirrups and scanned the world around with its spires of flame up the darkness, and at each flash he whooped, and at laughter and struck a fist upon his pommel.

"Their little fires!" he cried, "their horses! Their cocksure faith! While the Black Rustler rides out of their net like an eel!"

But their little fires covered a further readiness than he could know, their faith was cold as a rock—for many men were far along the sides of the net before the fires were set, and some of them had known for three days that the Black Princess was to go tonight!

In fact the pass was guarded by five men in the shadow of the cliff, their six-guns waiting—and some one carried a good rope at his saddle-bow.

For old Dome Fate was pleased to make a play in the rangeland—and her bells were set to ring on the Rustler's number.

There were more horses afoot in the plains that night than any rider knew. For instance—a spotted paint pony, like a ghost in the dark, and a great red horse with a shadow on his shoulders. These two met, by chance, where the Little Antelope cut down to its ford beyond Refugio—and there was a peal of vixen laughter, a taunt and a small risk shaken to the stars. The man on the stallion caught his breath, thought swiftly, and swore a low-toned oath.

For a while he sat where the flying pinto left him, in the lee of the cottonwoods, thinking as swiftly as he had ever thought in all his wild life.

Then he drew a hand across his eyes and rode thru the shallow waters to Refugio.

And beyond the pass in the Blind Trail hills something was happening—something vital, that would have to do with the play that was coming for that top sailing in the hidden glade, long thinned and bending, gave at last beneath the worrying teeth, bent farther yet to the push of a broad bay breast—and the ends let go from their cut slots in the wall!

With a hoarse scream the Redstar, feeling the barrier give, pushed, felt of the remaining height with his bending neck—and whirled from the gate to tear away up the level floor.

Far in the center he turned, leaned forward, poised, then stretched away in full flight toward the lowered bars.

It was still a splendid hurdle, enough to tax his full strength and brain, but beyond it lay the sound of canons, the pass, the open plains—and the sweet green fields of home! Home—and the calling voice of his beloved—with the sweet scents in her hair—the feel of love in her caressing hand!

Like wind upon a hill—like a kite above a cloud—the Redstar took the gate! Free! Free as the winds that sucked up the surge, as the untrammelled waters!

He flung up his great head, his soft eyes shining like fox-fire, and with his mouth open and screaming his joy to all the silent walls, the Redstar went down the cut—for home!

And the Black Rustler, his horse's feet soft-padded, rode for the guarded pass hilariously. But he, too, was keen as the seventh sense, "from fate," a man of excitement, he sobered and held out his hand to the man beside him.

"We've had many a ride together," he said, "an' it's been a great life—the best in its line—such a life as no other two men on this Border have ever lived. But I think it's time we last. This was to have been the best, the most brilliant—the high water mark of all. Shake, old man. An'—goodby. Turn th' damn mare loose—an' ride—it there's any way 'o ride that these damn ranchers—there was savage hatred in his voice—'ain't covering."

He wrung the hand of the silent man, who could not speak it seemed, and was away.

And at that hour, when the world seemed lightening with the rising moon, while Val prayed in anguish, while the Black Rustler rode away on his last great lap alone—Father Hillaire rose trembling to stand in the gate and grasp Velantir's hand.

"Padre," said the man simply, "I've come back to the church books."

"Good!" asked the priest with ineffable sorrow in his voice.

"No. White, I hope. As white as I can ever be. I am in haste father—great haste—and I need need you. Always I have needed you, it seems—but more than ever now."

He spoke rapidly and Father Hillaire drew him into the moonlight that he might look into his face with yearning eyes.

It was thinned a bit and paler. "The wound?"

"Better. Almost well. It was nothing—a scratch. I've had many worse. But he was the man, padre—you know that."

"How well?" said the other, "and for how long?"

"So?" And you did not tell me?"

"They were speaking in the elemental, as if it was the time for all hopes, all dissimulations, to be laid aside."

"No. Why should I?"

"True. You were my friend."

Velantir laid his arm on the shoulders under the shabby cassock that seemed bowing under an invisible weight.

"Be my friend now, padre," he said, and there was a wistful tone in the rich voice that vibrated like a string. "I am in great haste but I want something."

"Ask," said the priest simply.

"Such comfort as you have for lost souls, padre—give it to me."

Father Hillaire wet his lips.

"Die?" he asked stiffly, "how, my son?"

"The Black Rustler rides tonight—into a trap, set and prepared by that little arch-fiend, Lolo Sanchez."

"I met her but now by the Little Antelope—who thought it was I who would spring it. For her sake—"

"—I know—for her sweet sake—"

"—it is I who shall spring the trap, padre. I can beat him in, and no one will be the wiser. You know I have the Rustler's fame about me anyway. . . . Can you give me comfort, father dear?"

The old priest lifted his face and never in his long, hard life had it been so glorified, so furrowed with its lines.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that he giveth his life for his friend," he said tremulously, "come."

And for the first time Velantir, "sometime of the Border," stepped to the little side door of the mission, life, too, felt a man of excitement, he sobered and held out his hand to the man beside him.

"We've had many a ride together," he said, "an' it's been a great life—the best in its line—such a life as no other two men on this Border have ever lived. But I think it's time we last. This was to have been the best, the most brilliant—the

M. A. DORSEY WINS "SHAVING" PRIZE

Cash prize of $1 for the best "Short Shaving" submitted during the past week, published in The Lima News, has been awarded to M. A. Dorsey, 262 S. Pine-st.

Mabel Bennett, 355 S. Main-st., writes: "One day on my way home from school, I heard two boys quarreling about what they could do. One boy said, 'Well, I pick my teeth with nails and think they're tooth picks.' The other boy remarked, 'Oh, that's nothing. I can eat iron and spit up enighns.'"

Donald Say, 454 S. Main-st., Dolphos, relates: "My brother made the remark to me that for once the stars were out this winter. Just then my younger brother, who is five years old replied, 'You're crazy, they are not out, they are on.'"

"Our neighbor's little boy who once lived in Rotterdam, hid his Christmas candy in the cupboard," writes Laura Cheuvront, 955 N. West-st. "His little sister found the candy and ate it. The boy asked his mother if it was any harm to say 'Rotter-dam.' The mother replied, 'No my dear, that is the name of our town.' 'Well, sister ate all my candy, I wish it would Rotter-dam teeth out.'"

Alice Katherine Hiltner, Vencloca, sends in this one: "The topic of an after dinner discussion was about a witness on trial. The fact was explained that the witness must swear to the truth of his statements. The lady of the family, aged seven, all of a sudden asked: 'Do they cuss there?'"

Mrs. Paul Biotry, 1009 E. Furka-st., says: "Last Saturday while baking a pie, my little boy aged three, was watching and after putting on the top crust he asked, 'Where are the cherries? I told him they were covered up and he asked, 'to keep them warm?'"

"The following incident took place when I was in the second grade of school," writes John E. Whittington, Blida. "One of my classmates raised his hand and said, 'Teacher, Johnnie is having trouble with his feet.' Before the teacher could answer, Johnnie raised his hand and said, 'Teacher, Abe's having trouble with his tongue.' The best part of it was she didn't recall, but just turned and laughed."

A short time ago when the walks were clear of snow and the ground had thawed so that the lawns were soft, a five-year-old girl was roller skating. She lost control of her feet and fell with her hands and knees on the lawn. The woman of the house saw her and called, 'Mary, did you get your stockings muddled?' Mary replied, 'Yes I did and I think you had better wash your dirty old yard.' This was submitted by C. P. Reynolds, Lima Locomotive Works.

"Today as I was walking down the street," writes O. E. Grant, 132 1-2 E. Spring-st., "a stranger halted me and asked if I was looking for a job. I told him I was and he told me of two positions open, one in a jewelry store and one in a bank. What doing? I asked. 'One is winding an eight-day clock and the other pulling leaves off a calendar,' he replied."

Mrs. J. M. Clark, 690 S. Union-st., tells of an incident concerning her little grandson. "Being very cold one morning my husband said he would like to know how cold it was. Overhearing the remark, my little five-year-old grandson said, 'Well, I suppose it is below zero.'"

"One day my little son, aged six years was very unhappy," writes W. H. Keeler, 210 S. Union-st. Robert, I said you must be a better boy or when you die you won't go to heaven.' He quickly replied, 'Well, mother, I want to go where all the boys go.'"

"The funniest experience that ever happened to me was when I was eight years old," says Clara Binkley, Bluffton. "My aunt sent me to a grocery and while there I saw a little colored girl for the first time. I just stood and looked at her. She turned and said, 'Well, do you think I'm pretty?'"

Stanley Walser, 132 1-2 E. Spring-st., submits this one: "The other night when I came home from work, there was a young woman there visiting my wife, who has the flu. She asked me if I had the flu too and just then I stubbed my foot on a telescope that was in the room. I looked up at her and said, 'No, lady, I'm just getting over the grip.'"

George Gray, R. D. 2, Calina, tells about a man who was looking for a job. A man gave him one and told him to trim the apple trees. When the man returned he asked if the trees were trimmed and the laborer replied, 'No, I cut them down today and I will trim them up tomorrow.'"

Mrs. Evelyn McCauley, 10 Terrace-st., W. Murphy-st., tells that when her little cousin first started to attend Sunday school, he heard that Jesus was in Heaven. "One night he was going to his home, while the moon was shining brightly," Evelyn relates. "He glanced up at the moon and said, 'Jesus is following us home.' After reaching his home, the moon was still in sight. He said, 'Goodnight, dear Jesus, I have to go to bed.'"

Mrs. John Vance, Lima R. D. 3, relates that one evening recently, a neighbor called at her home, to use the telephone. "Not being accustomed to talking into the instrument," she says, "he became confused and told me that he had forgotten the number, but thought it was High 12345. He then wondered why someone at the other end of the line laughed."

MAY INCREASE FORCE SANDUSKY City council is considering legislation to increase the police force by the addition of officers in residential districts.
